June Here Driest In 55 Years

Precipitation Less Than 3 Pct. Of Normal to Date

Edmonton is believed to be the driest part of the entire prairies.

While adequate rain has fallen over the remainder of the region, Edmonton is experiencing severe drought.

Precipitation during the first seventeen days of June has been less than three per cent of normal.

Unless there is a "deluge" during the next two weeks — highly unlikely—it will be the driest June in 55 years, the weatherman says.

USUALLY RAINS EARLIER

So far only .07 inches of rain have fallen. The 55-year average for the period is 1.67 inches.

Normally most of June rainfall occurs in the first two weeks so that it is unlikely that precipitation during the latter part of the month will be enough to bring moisture conditions up to normal.

Total precipitation for April, May and the first seventeen days of June is 1.66 inches. This is little more than a third the normal fall of 4.35 inches.

SUBSOIL HARD HIT

From the agricultural standpoint conditions are even worse because below-average precipitation last year, causing subsoil moisture conditions to be lower than usual this year.

Rainfall during May—1.39 inches as compared with the average of 1.89—was close to normal. But high winds have caused serious

FLIRTING NOT A CRIME COURT RULES

TAMPA, Fla., June 18.—(AP)—Is it a crime to flirt with a pretty girl on the sidewalk?

Judge R. J. Potter thinks not. Thursday he dismissed two men accused of molesting an 18-year-old theatre cashier. She accused the pair of following her late at night. Said the judge:

"It is a general tendency of men who see a pretty girl walking along the street to try to get acquainted. I am sure they had no intention of harming her."

$100 Million Drought Loss

By The Canadian Press

The hot muggy weather in eastern Canada is expected to continue throughout the week-end while the western provinces experience cool weather.

There is still no relief in store for drought-stricken Ontario where crop damage has already unofficially passed the $100,000,000 mark.

Weather officials predict continuing high temperatures for most sections of the eastern provinces.

In the Maritimes, where a record week-long heat spell was recorded in 1930, hot, dry weather conditions prevailed for the sixth straight day.

COOLER POINTS

But at Saint John, N.B., and Yarmouth, N.S., the temperatures dipped to the cool high 60s as fog settled along the Bay of Fundy coast.

Shorttime farmers fear the possibility of drought conditions, especially in central New Brunswick where the long dry spell is causing alarm. Temperatures are expected to remain in the mid-80s during the week-end.

In western Canada a slight overnight frost followed rain that fell over southern sections of the prairie provinces. Little crop damage was reported.

Burke Gets Ten Years In Prison

Sentence Passed For Manslaughter Of Brother-In-Law

Leo Francis Burke today was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for the May 10 slaying of his brother-in-law, James W. Holmes.

Sentence was passed by Mr. Justice J. Boyd McBride.

In passing sentence, Mr. Justice McBride told Burke "stabbing a man to death is will not be regarded lightly in Canada or in this court."

NO JUSTIFICATION

He said there might have been some justification for using his fist in self-defence, but there was no justification for using a knife.

The justice told Burke, "you are no cripple." He pointed out that although Burke had suffered infantile paralysis as a child, he had in later life been able to drive a taxi and sell advertising.

"And you were planning to learn to fly."

He said he knew of many cases of paralysis worse than Burke's and where the victims had turned out to be useful citizens.

"As a result of your crime you have left a bereaved widow and a fatherless family," he said.

ABLE DEFENCE

The justice told Burke "you have been ably defended and I think you have reason to feel indebted to your counsel."

Burke was defended by Frank Dunne.

Through his four-day murder trial Burke sat pale and tense in the prisoner's dock. He took the sentence calmly.

Accused of the pen-knife slaying of Holmes following an argument and struggle in the Holmes' east end Edmonton home, Burke heard the charge reduced to manslaughter Thursday.

Trial evidence established that Burke had a "mortal fear" of his brother-in-law who, according to testimony, had beaten him on several occasions.

Woman and Youth Accident Victims

A northern Alberta mother and an 18-year-old youth are dead today and six other persons are in hospital here following a tragic two-car head-on collision on the St. Albert-Morinville highway, three miles south of Morinville.

Dead are Mrs. Sadie Galbreath, age unknown, of Colinton, near Athabasca, and Vincent Delancey, 18, a hired hand on the Galbreath farm.

Injured and taken to Royal Alexandra hospital were:

Alta Galbreath, 53, fractured skull and two broken legs.

The dead woman's son, and driver of the car, Lute Galbreath, 26, fractured left leg, cuts and bruises.

L. Y. Satterlee, 43, of Colinton, cut forehead.

Hurt in the other car, believed by RCMP to have been driven by William Trawney, 35, of 10848 68 street, were:

Trawney, cut face and hands; Peter Palmer, 28, 11522 72 street, fractured right leg and face cuts; Miss Dorothy Cawthorpe, 24, an employe of Oliver Mental hospital, fractured right leg and face cuts.

RCMP said the accident occurred at 10:30 p.m. as the death car was proceeding north. It is believed the occupants had attended the circus at Edmonton and were proceeding home.

Three miles south of Morinville a second car approached, heading for Edmonton, the two met head-on tossing both autos more than 20 feet from the impact.

KILLED INSTANTLY

The woman is believed to have been tossed through the windshield of the Colinton-bound auto and killed instantly. Delancey was pronounced dead on arrival in hospital here.

Three other passengers in the northbound vehicle were injured, as were three occupants of the city-bound auto.

Dr. Perreult of Morinville, called to the scene, said he would not go by the victims but described the scene as "one of the worst I've ever seen."

Bodies were strewn about the roadside and the cars looked as if they had rolled over at least once," the doctor said.

MOVED TO HOSPITAL

Ambulances called from Edmonton removed four injured persons to Royal Alexandra hospital here where they are being kept.

The accident scene is the same spot where a large truck and trailer upset in a ditch on Thursday night.

Blood plasma for six injured victims of the crash, in Royal Alexandra hospital, was supplied early today by the Edmonton Red Cross blood bank.

Red Cross officials said several urgent requests for plasma were received from the hospital.

Day's Rain Needed To Curb Fires

One day's rain is needed to end the outbreak of forest fires in northern Alberta bushlands, forestry officials said today.

Weather forecasts today promise no aid to weary fire fighting crews, battling the second serious outbreak of fires this spring.

Fires which raged for nearly a month in northern Alberta areas earlier, were brought under control by late May rains.

NEW HART LAKE FIRE

During subsequent dry weather, new fires broke out in a half a dozen widely separated districts.

Crews have all but one of them under control today, but a new blaze broke out late yesterday north of Hart Lake in Lac la Biche district, about 300 miles northwest of Edmonton.

About 20 men rushed to the area are fighting the fire and may check it today.

Meanwhile, crews reached the isolated Moosin Lake area, north of Whitecourt, about 109 miles northwest of Edmonton, to curb a fire burning there for nearly a week.

REINFORCEMENTS STYMIED

Second fire in the district, at Meadmap Lake, is still out of control, but fire fighters are expected to reach it today.

Spotted by RCAF planes flying over the area early this week, the fire has been fought only by two rangers, as trailless bushland prevented reinforcements from reaching the district.

In Grande Prairie, Lac la Biche, Whitecourt, Lesser Slave Lake and Carrot Creek, all fires are under control.

"One day's rain is all that is needed to beat the fire threat now," forestry officials said.

Canadian Warships In Boston Harbor

BOSTON, June 18.—(CP)—Three Canadian warships and the British submarine Tudor berthed at the South Boston navy yard yesterday after being fog-bound for two hours outside the harbor.

The destroyers Haida and Nootka, the frigate Swansea and Tudor will continue their summer training cruise Monday. More than 100 ratings are aboard the four vessels.

Medical Expert Dies

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph Pemberton, 72, internationally-recognized authority on arthritis and rheumatism, died yesterday.

TRAPPED BY FLAMES for nearly an hour, Moses Mairs, 62, and his springer spaniel dogs had a narrow escape when their houseboat exploded in flames during Vancouver's False Creek fire this week.

City Population Believed Nearing 138,000 Mark

Edmonton's population is believed to be nearing 138,000, on the basis of unofficial estimates obtained as a result of the civic census now being taken.

If the estimates are verified in official figures likely to be announced within the next few days by the city assessor, it will mean that population increase in the past year has shattered all previous records.

City's population as officially announced after the 1948 census taken last July, was 126,000.

Last year's increase was also at all-time record for a single year, revealing a gain of 8,008 from 1947.

This year the gain is expected to be close to 10,000.

Four census takers are still hard at work, it was revealed at city hall today.

Officials declined to forecast what the final count would be beyond stating that a "substantial gain" over last year would certainly be made.

SEE SOUTH SIDE GAIN

As was the case last year, the South Side is expected to again show a spectacular increase in population, with up to 4,000 more residents likely to be the final count.

Work of taking the 1949 census has been going ahead steadily for several weeks. At the present time a back-check is being made at homes where residents were absent when the census takers first called.

Army and air force areas are also being "covered" during the closing stage of the work.

Snatchers Get $5,000 Haul

WINNIPEG, June 18.—(CP)—A Winnipeg hotel employee, Miss Helen Fletcher, today had her purse, containing a reported $5,000 snatched on downtown main street by two men who made their escape in a waiting automobile.

The middle-aged cashier of the West hotel said she was walking down the street from a bank to the hotel at the time of the robbery. Two men ran up behind her, one grabbed the purse and both disappeared.

Miss Fletcher said she had withdrawn $5,000 in bills from the bank to be used for cashing cheques of hotel customers.

Police Chief Testifies In 'Peg Inquiry

WINNIPEG, June 18.—(CP)—Cross-examination of Police Chief Charles MacIver and submission of a statement by him that he had received no complaints against members of the department since his appointment as Chief Constable today marked the closing session of the Roya Commission of inquiry into alleged malpractices by members of the police force.

The commission adjourned until June 24, when summing up of evidence will commence.

On the witness stand Chief MacIver said there had been minor violation of rules by police officers, but these had been dealt with.

Since he had become chief he had received no complaints from citizens concerning actions of the department, he said.

VAGRANT HAS NEW HOME NOW

CHESTER, Pa., June 18.—(AP)—John McCafferty, 46, arrested as a homeless vagrant, insisted the police were wrong—he had a home, and gave its address—714 Melvaine St.

Yesterday McCafferty came before Magistrate R. Robinson Lowry.

"Where did you get that address?" Lowry asked the defendant.

"It's just an address," McCafferty replied.

"I'll say it is," said the magistrate. "That's where I live."

The sentence: 90 days.

Another Dry City Weekend

With no rain anywhere in prairies in the last 24 hours, weather forecasts predict continued dryness over the weekend.

Only prairie area expecting rain is the Peace River district where light showers will fall tomorrow. Edmonton high today is predicted at 70 degrees, compared to a high of 57 yesterday. Tomorrow's high will reach 75.

Revolutionary Plot Foiled

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, June 18.—(AP)—The government announced yesterday it had discovered a plot to overthrow the regime and had taken measures to foil it.

A communique issued by the governing military Junta said the plan called for killing government leaders, releasing former officials convicted under the present regime, and placing Col. Camin Aguirre y Salinas, a former president, in office again.

Rubber Company Dispute Ended

KITCHENER, Ont., June 18.—(CP)—A dispute which started Wednesday with walkout of 18 pocket-building workers and later affected about 900 employes of the Dominion Rubber Company tire plant, ended today.

President Carl Fitzgerald of Local 80 of the United Rubber Workers (CIO) said union officials met with the pocket builders and that the case "reached an understanding" and would return to work Monday. The pocket workers manufacture part of the carcass or undercoat of truck tires and walked out over a seniority grievance.

20,000 Police Mass To Forestall Battle

PARIS, June 18.—(UP)—Twenty thousand Paris police forces moved into position today to prevent a threatened clash between thousands of Communists and followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle meeting less than a mile apart.

The government cancelled all police leaves and called out the biggest concentration of forces since the Communist-inspired strike movement last October and November. Observers expressed fear that blood would flow.

The threatened clash developed into a Communist challenge of Gaullist forces who scheduled a ceremony to honor Gen. Philippe LeClerc's triumphant entry into Paris with the 2nd French Armored Division on Aug. 24, 1944.

Communist leaders called the Gaullist plans to honor LeClerc a "Gaullist provocation" and scheduled their own meeting for 90 minutes earlier less than a mile away.

Communist union leaders ordered their followers to "bar the way" to the Gaullists. The site is a working class district on the south side of Paris amid a Communist stronghold.

'Rip' Now Assured Burial In Former Home Garden

VICTORIA, B.C., June 18.—(CP)—Victoria's much publicized dog "Rip," a 10-year-old terrier, will be buried in the garden of his mistress' old home when he dies.

A court decision assured this today, Mr. Justice A. W. Macfarlane ruled that the home may be sold but provision must be made for "Rip's" burial place.

"Rip" was the pet of Mrs. Marguerite Ethel Spratt, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, one of this city's major shipyards. She died July 24, 1946.

Her will provided $75 a month for his maintenance. He was to sleep in Mrs. Spratt's bedroom and be bathed in the adjoining bathroom.

Miss Agnes Cartwright, a nurse, was allowed $1,000 a year to look after the dog, in addition to the $75 monthly allowed for his maintenance. At "Rip's" death she was to receive $5,000.

Early this year Miss Cartwright became ill and had to go to hospital. She relinquished care of the dog which was sent to a kennel.

Meanwhile a trust company, executors of the Spratt estate, decided to sell the home, near government house.

They took the matter to court today. The will stipulated that "Rip" was to be buried in the garden.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane said the dog must be buried according to terms of the will.

Meanwhile the kennel keeper is taking particular care of the wire-haired terrier with an allowance of $75 a month.

U.K. Musical Tastes Cause Split Opinions

By Don Gilbert

LONDON, June 18.—(CP)—British impresarios are divided over whether the long-haired music business is in a slump, but in London and the Midlands many orchestras are losing money.

For the last three months the London Philharmonic has been playing to quarter capacity in Albert Hall. And the touring Philadelphia orchestra, one of the world's finest, has encountered "terrible apathy" in the country's capital.

But from several northern cities come reports of working-class audiences packing halls for orchestral programs.

PROGRAM PRUNED

In Birmingham, where lack of support has forced a pruning of the season's programs for the civic orchestra, the management says: "Perhaps we have over-estimated the public capacity for music, and given more concerts than loyal audiences can be expected to attend."

Harold Fielding, sponsor of the Philadelphia orchestra's British tour, is slashing his top price for remaining concerts from £2 ($8) to 12s 6d.

The London Philharmonic is cutting admission charges, too.

Manager J. Gregory says that if the slashed prices succeed in filling the hall the orchestra still will lose £150 on each concert.

Industrial cities in the north give the other side of the picture.

DENIES SLUMP

"We have had no slump at all," said General Manager T. E. Bean of Manchester's Halle Orchestra. He reported 4,000 attendance at regular mid-day concerts with up to 3,000 at Sunday programs.

Liverpool Philharmonic has given more concerts this year than ever before. Last year it cleared £2,100.

A similarly encouraging report was turned in by the youngest of Britain's classical orchestras, the Yorkshire Symphony, which said its 120 concerts this season are well supported in the 10 Yorkshire centres where it plays.

CSU Makes Bid To End Strike

Executives Offer to Quit; Present 4-Point Proposal

MONTREAL, June 18.—(BUP)—The Canadian Seamen's Union yesterday offered to end its lengthy walkout against east coast ship operators if certain conditions are met by the federal government.

Union president Harry Davis and secretary-treasurer T. G. McManus, in an open letter to Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, offered to end the walkout if the following conditions are met:

"1. That Prime Minister St. Laurent, or anyone authorized by him, should assure the striking seamen that they will all be rehired to their former positions without discrimination.

"2. That all wages owing to striking seamen for the period that they worked on their ships, prior to the strike and in returning their ships to their home port, as well as all other personal belongings, will be paid and returned to them as quickly as possible.

"3. That a government-supervised vote shall be held aboard all Atlantic ships two months after the ending of the strike and after the strikers will have returned to their jobs so that the seamen themselves may democratically decide what union they select as their bargaining agency.

4. That all charges laid against striking seamen shall be dropped."

WILLING TO QUIT

Davis and McManus said they would be willing to resign their positions if it would aid in ending the costly walkout. The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, in suspending the CSU on June 3, said it was "concerned" about the union's allegedly Communist-influenced leadership.

"The present officers of the Canadian Seamen's Union will not stand in the way of a settlement of the strike so long as those who may replace them, will be chosen by members of our union," the letter said.

Davis and McManus said their letter followed up a conference in Ottawa yesterday among representatives of the union, the TLC and the federal labor department.

They said that should their proposals be accepted by the prime minister, "then we, the two chief officers of the Canadian Seamen's Union will be prepared to advise striking members of our union on the Atlantic fleet, to call off the strike at once and to return to the ships."

In their letter to the prime minister, Davis and McManus denied that their union is influenced by the Communist party.

"Neither the Canadian Seamen's Union, nor any other self-respecting union, can tolerate outside interference with the basic rights of its membership to choose their own leadership. The surrender of this right is equivalent to the surrender of the independence of trade unionism," they said.

She had testified she acted in self defence when Owen, 68, president of the National Apartment House Owners Association, was shot in the bedroom of his ranch April 22.

The jury apparently sided, in some degree, with the state's contention that Mrs. Garnier, for 15 years Owen's confidential secretary and sweetheart, was motivated by jealousy of his attentions to actress Irene Rich.

evaporation of soil moisture. Cool weather has been the only saving factor.

Weathermen can not explain why rainfall has been negligible here while on the remainder of the prairies it has been adequate.

This is especially unusual as weather has been generally cloudy.

MOISTURE IN ATMOSPHERE

Moisture has been present in the atmosphere but conditions have not been right to cause precipitation.

Precipitation is caused, the weatherman explains, by rising masses of air. These raise the moisture to cool upper levels where it is condensed and falls as rain.

The rising air masses may be caused by heat from the surface of the earth or by cold air which moves in underneath warmer air and hoists it aloft.

Nobody can explain why, but these conditions have simply not prevailed recently.

Intermittent Rains Ease Ontario Drought

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP)—Intermittent rains have given some relief to Ontario's dry farms and pasture lands, but no rain is in order for the week-end, weather officials predicted today. No relief from the heat wave is forecast either.

Heavy rains yesterday brought relief to the vegetable-growing area between Windsor and Chatham in western Ontario, helping to stem the province's worst drought, now in its 33rd day.

Elsewhere, scattered thundershowers failed to do much for the sun-stricken land.

7 New Polio Victims Swell Texas Epidemic

SAN ANGELO, Tex., June 18.—(UP)—Seven new polio victims were added to hospital rolls today, dashing hopes that the worst infantile paralysis epidemic this year had been checked.

The new cases brought to 180 the number of victims in this area.

Meanwhile, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis gave San Angelo $40,000 in March of Dime contributions to fight the epidemic.

"We appreciate it, but we'll need lots more before the epidemic is over," said Ed Stewart of Abilene, Texas, state March of Dimes chairman.

$200,000 SENT

The money will be used to treat patients needing financial assistance and to pay for emergency personnel and equipment. The foundation thus far this year has sent a total of $200,000 to this west Texas city where eight persons have died of polio in 1949.

Before the new cases were admitted to hospitals, city-county health director R. E. Elvins expressed the belief the epidemic was reaching the turning point. A poliomyelitis authority from Stanford University returned to California, saying his services were no longer necessary.

A survey in Fort Worth, Tex., showed today that polio there has stricken middle and upper class families more than low income groups. Of 27 cases reported in Fort Worth this year, few occurred in over-crowded areas.

First post office in what is now the United States was organized under a royal patent granted to Thomas Neale, in 1691.

Volunteers Help Recreation Work

City Playground System Now Boasts 23 Programs

Edmonton Recreation Commission playground system, now comprising twenty-three organized programs, has completed another active week with many special events run off successfully through the co-operation of many volunteers and community groups.

Highlands, Eastwood, Jasper Place, and Riverdale Community Leagues have installed drinking fountains for use of the playground children.

Playground directors are working out detailed plans for operation of inter-playground fastball, soccer, and volleyball leagues. Boys and girls who are not already in organized leagues are invited to contact district playground directors to secure a place on teams which are now practicing each day. The Inter-Playground Picnic at Victoria Park has been scheduled for July 28 with several thousand children expected to participate.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Planning is also going ahead for special programs on Saturday, June 25 and Friday, July 1, to publicize the community playgrounds to mark the occasion of commencement of school holidays and celebrate Dominion Day.

Following news notes have been gleaned from reports gathered from the playground Directors.

Westwood—An active Mothers' Club has been organized to assist with operation of a program for the little folk every afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. Interested mothers should contact Joe Kischuk regarding program and details of assistance required.

TREASURE SEARCH

Pirates' Day was held on Friday afternoon with a treasure hunt, treasure maps, costumes, sea stories, sports program, and an imaginary sail around the "Cape."

Westmount—Large numbers of kiddies attending special program of games, stories, crafts and singing each afternoon at 2 p.m. Gordon Pearson is coaching a newly organized girls' fastball team. Mr. Steve Ewing and Lawrence Moon, officials of the Mountglen YMCA, are busily engaged in operation of ball teams for boys, nine years and over, in the district. A treasure hunt and singsong was held on Friday evening June 17 for boys and girls 6 to 12 years of age.

YOUNGSTERS BUSY

The first Birthday Party of the season for pre-school children will be held on Wednesday afternoon, June 22. Children and interested mothers can secure further details from Jean Smith, playground director.

Riverdale—Tommy Zawada will coach the playground fastball team for boys under 13 years and Joe Walchuk will handle the boys under 16 years.

Jasper Place—Teen dances have recommenced in the Community Hall on Friday evenings. Jean Kennedy is president of the Teen Club. Action is being taken to get a tennis club organized and the Community League has promised some assistance on reconditioning of courts if interest warrants. A class in fret saw craft is conducted on Tuesday and Thursday for boys eight to 16 years at 4 p.m.

TUMBLING AND DANCING

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday, tumbling and folk dancing is scheduled at 4 p.m. for those interested. An attempt to form a Mothers' Group to assist with children's program has not met with success due to low attendance at several meetings called for the purpose.

Kitchener—A wiener roast for teen group at Victoria Park and a playground Birthday Party today proved successful affairs. Ice cream and cake was supplied by the West End Businessmen's Association which has adopted this playground. A fancy hat show was held in conjunction with the party.

Scads of dolls, small dogs, big dogs, pussy cats and even pet fish had a hey day recently when they were the centre of attraction for a special program. To give the children a part of the show a Freckle Contest and a Missing Tooth Contest was held.

KEEN COMPETITION

Highlands—A playground fastball house league of four teams is underway with keen competition two or three evenings each week. The community June Carnival is scheduled for Saturday, June 18th, with pony rides, games, refreshments and dancing. Shellcraft classes started last Tuesday at 4 p.m. with Pat McDowell instructing.

Boyle Street—Dramatics and impromptu concerts is an interesting development here. Recent programs have included a doll show, dog show, races, picnic, group games, group singing. A hike to Wails Mpid was held with Verna McEwen and Hank Yourzefovich in charge. A fancy hat show is scheduled today with many and varied designs of copies of Parisian models expected to be entered, using crepe paper, flowers, vegetables and ribbon.

SHARE COACHING

Two teams are entered in the inter-playground fastball league, one for girls 16 years and under, the other for boys 13 years and under. Bill Beley and Harold Aronson are sharing coaching duties for a couple of baseball teams organized to play unofficial games against all comers at available diamonds. The boys on these teams are 14 years and under.

Ritchie—The Directors are receiving very good support from the mothers of the little folk for operation of program each afternoon. A Birthday Party is planned for pre-school children on June 29th with the Mother's Club in charge of refreshments. A bonfire and wiener roast is scheduled for pee wee town Saturday, June 18th at 7:30 p.m. A horseshoe tournament for adults is being organized.

TEAMS PRACTICING

McCauley—Three fastball teams have been organized and are ready to start play in the inter-playground league. Volleyball teams are practicing and will provide keen competition for other teams. A tiny tot program operates every afternoon at 2 p.m. with crafts, games, stories and singing. Practice times on the ball diamond have been scheduled as follows:

Community League Juvenile Girls —Monday, 7 p.m.; Girls 14 and under—Tuesday, 7 p.m.; Boys 16 and under—Wednesday, 7 p.m.; Boys 14 and under—Thursday and Friday, 7 p.m.

Tipton—A track meet is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:15 p.m. Twenty mothers of children attending pre-school program were on hand for a picnic and meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Arrangements were completed for a regular schedule of volunteer assistants for the playground program.

PINGMINGTON SCHEDULED

Central—An average of 45 children attending afternoon pre-school program. Volleyball, pingmington and basketball are on a regular schedule and craft classes for various age groups are being organized. A sing song on Monday evening is now a regular feature with Nina Sands assisting. A badminton club is being organized.

Elmwood—The community league has supplied a quantity of bats, balls, gloves, and rugby balls for use on the playground. A weekly volleyball game is now in operation for women.

On June 24 a Handicraft Exhibit will be held. Judging will take place at 4:30 and refreshments will be served.

MANY ACTIVITIES

Borden—Square dancing, crafts, tot program, group games, sports, free play adding to the popularity of this playground. An active Mothers' Group is operating to assist Director with over 20 Mothers in attendance at a recent meeting.

Calder—Three fastball teams, two for boys and one for girls, have been organized. Some games are being played with other playgrounds in the district.

Cloverdale—Teams for fastball and volleyball, both boys and girls, have been organized and anxious for competition with other playgrounds. Crafts, games, stories, drama, included in regular program.

Eastwood — Exhibition day is scheduled for June 25th when crafts will be on display. A meeting of Mothers will be held on June 20th to plan special program for July 1st.

MOTHERS HELPING

RCAF.—This program is developing gradually with mothers taking more responsibility for operation. Temporary equipment is being installed by the station with swings and see-saw in process of construction. An exhibition of crafts done by the children will be held on Saturday, June 25th, at 2 p.m. No program will be held on July 1st.

Self-Government Wanted

The executive of the taxpayers' association of West Jasper Place has voted unanimously in favor of the incorporation of their vigorous and thriving community as a village.

The provincial department of municipal affairs has indicated its approval of the step and a full meeting of ratepayers will be held next week to take definite action.

West Jasper Place now has a population of something more than 7,000.

It covers a wide area, being bounded by 149th street on the east, by 175rd street on the west, by 88th avenue on the south and by 118th avenue on the north.

But the greatest asset of West Jasper Place is neither its geographical extent nor the number of its people. Its greatest asset is enterprise and the free and independent viewpoint of its residents.

It is not surprising, then, that people who take an unusual pride in their community and who express themselves with confidence and vigor on all matters touching the welfare of their community should wish to attain a full measure of self-government.

It is bound to be galling to such an urban section to be governed by a municipal council, even though it sends a representative to that council and even though it may be well governed.

Actually, it is the height of absurdity that West Jasper Place, with all the feeling and aspiration of an urban centre, should be governed from Stony Plain which is another type of a community altogther.

The ambition of West Jasper Place people for their district is typical of the forthright and excellent citizens who reside.

In their plan to incorporate as a self-governing village they deserve all the support and assistance Edmonton can give.

Certainly they have the warmest good wishes of Edmonton people.

What Delays the Hotel Now?

The Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, has stated in Edmonton that the federal government has given full approval to the extension to the Macdonald hotel and the sum of $4,000,000 has been made available to the railway company for this purpose.

What, then, is delaying the actual start on the project?

Here it is more than mid-June and Edmonton's hotel need grows more desperate every day.

But not one shovelful of earth has been turned.

Mr. Howe declares that there is no government obstruction whatever in the way of an immediate start.

That means that the only circumstance holding up operations is the failure of the city and the CNR to reach an agreement on a tax rate.

As everyone knows, the railway company wishes to pay no more than $50 per room per year. The city has offered to reduce taxation to $100 per room per year, an eminently reasonable proposal in view of the fact the average civic tax on CNR hotels in other places is around $150 per room.

But Edmonton needs hotel accommodation much more urgently than it needs that extra $50 per room. Thousands of dollars of tourist money are being diverted from this city every week because hotel space is grossly inadequate.

There is something not reassuring about the silence that envelops the whole situation so far as the city and the CNR are concerned.

Has the city reduced its tax demand?

Has the railway company made any effort to effect a compromise?

And if a new compromise rate is being arranged, is any effort being made to have it authorized at the special session of the legislature of July 4?

The Policeman and the Diplomat

All across Canada there will be approval for the stand of the Port Credit police chief who arrested a Brazilian diplomat for speeding and who refuses to withdraw the charge, as the state department has urged, because the speeder enjoys diplomatic immunity.

Diplomatic immunity, declares the chief, will not restore life to children who get in the way of reckless speeders.

This conscientious police official, we believe, has enunciated a policy which is more profound and urgent than international relationships.

Love of God, Love of Man

Those genial pagans of this generation who insist that the full duty of the Christian is accomplished when he is kind to his fellows and that the golden rule is a sufficient guide to a good life should read the fourth chapter of the First Epistle of St. John which contains these words:

"Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God, and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. In this was manifested the love of God towards us, because that God sent His only-begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another."

The point in St. John's dissertation is the origin of love.

Love is not a human virtue. Perhaps the highest purely human virtue is justice.

Thus it is not possible for a man to love unselfishly of his own instincts. Such love comes only from God. And without God there could be no such love.

A purely human society would be a society without kindness, mercy or generosity or any of the virtues we associate with affection.

Such a society, of course, was the social monstrosity established by Hitler. Hitler attempted to shut God out of human relationships and, as a result, the highest virtue in his synthetic society was a sort of rough justice.

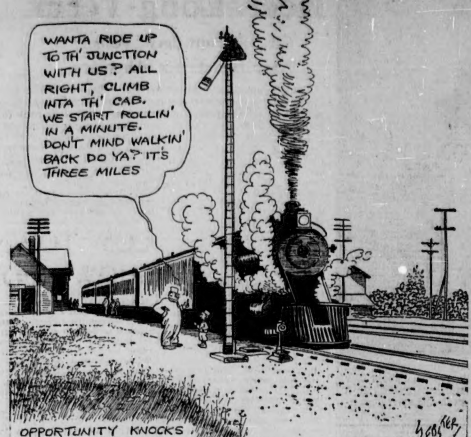
Men love their neighbors, not because it is possible to love their neighbors of their own will, but because God puts love in their hearts.

And no man can love his neighbor truly until he first loves God.

God is the first and supreme essential of a decent, kindly and neighborly society.

The Thrill That Comes Once In a Lifetime

By Webster



Elmore Philpott

Switzerland Has Rich Abundance Of Commodities

PHILPOTT

Milan, Italy.—We are going to have a real break in our journey here. For several days we intend to stay put. So, before the vividness of the memories of Switzerland fade, I must record them.

It is like coming into another world when you pass from Germany into Switzerland.

For in Germany, when you cross the whole country, you see just what the war disease does to a great people.

In Switzerland, you see what peace does for a country.

You see why it is that this people, right in the heart of Europe, have made themselves the most prosperous of all that continent.

Abundance Everywhere

There is a super-abundance of some things, and a sufficiency of all things, in Switzerland. Prices of manufactured articles struck us as high.

Radios, which we could buy for around $60 in Canada, were priced at around $100 in Bern.

You can buy all the nylon stockings you want—though the wife tells me they were higher-priced than at home.

But the necessities and ordinary comforts of life are definitely cheaper than in Canada

Every city and town has its open air market system. That seems to me the secret of the prosperity of the Swiss nation.

They have kept life close to the soil. You pass through dozens of villages which look as if they had come straight out of your childhood story books—almost like fairyland in their beauty. But you will find the livestock stables built right on to the houses.

You will see neat manure piles standing beside the main highways—maybe only 50 yards from as fine a wayside inn as ever you stayed in all your life in any country on earth.

We spent quite a while in the capital city, Bern. I intended to go in and talk with some of the politicians. I thought maybe I could get some tips on Switzerland's secret of success; how she gets German, French and Italian-speaking sections to live together as good neighbors.

But I never did get inside the parliament or the ancient Catholic cathedral.

We were so fascinated by Bern's open-air markets that we just could not tear ourselves away.

Right outside the Parliament and the cathedral are literally hundreds of sidewalk farmer-merchants.

They bring their produce direct from their little farms and they sell it to the townsfolk. Not only were they selling all sorts of vegetables, fruits and flowers.

There were butcher stalls doing a rushing business—at prices definitely less than we pay—maybe because there was no middle man between producer and consumer.

But these open-air markets are not confined to farm produce.

We saw excellent used furniture for sale. I could have spent a whole day in a single open-air book stall.

Open-Air Markets

Later we found that these open-air markets are universal through Switzerland and in Italy, as far as we have come.

But the Swiss ones were far the best I have ever seen.

Around swank Montreaux and its Vevey, we saw dozens of old women going happily homeward toward their little farms.

They were carrying on their own strong backs the big wicker baskets in which they had carried to market what they had for sale that morning.

Switzerland is no more beautiful than Canada. Even fabulously beautiful Lake Leman is no more (if as) beautiful than several I can name in our Canadian Rockies.

The difference is that the Swiss have improved the natural beauty of their land by what they have built.

As often as not our towns and even individual buildings deface our lovely land.

We could learn plenty from Switzerland. But the main thing seems to me symbolized by the very fact that the vast open-air market is on the very doorstep of the Swiss parliament.

Can anybody imagine any Canadian parliament, or even any block provincial legislature, consenting to an open-air market on its front-lawn?

Looking Backward

1889—60 Years Ago

According to the license law of Manitoba hotel keepers are required to have their applications endorsed by 16 out of 20 of the nearest residents. Burnt Out Pensioners

Editor, Bulletin—I see by The Bulletin that "Old Sweat" has a grievance re burnt out pensioners.

He says he doesn't see how burnt out pensioners can conscientiously vote Liberal in the forthcoming election because their pensions have not been increased. He can take it from me, his pension is liable to be reduced, if he doesn't vote the right way.

Site is Favored

Editor, Bulletin—It is gratifying to learn that the city council's auditorium committee is recommending that the auditorium be erected on the site which comprises the two blocks immediately north of the Glenton hotel site.

For whatever may be the wishes of any member of the present council, the fact remains that some future council will have the right to sell that area for some commercial or undesirable purpose.

The only way to ensure that the area in question may always be used for the recreation of Edmonton's citizens is to build there some building which behongs to the citizens, and to build it as soon as possible.

Calgary's lovely little Central Park has on its grounds the Calgary Public Library. There could be no happier decision made by our present city council than to place in the centre of our downtown area, the civic auditorium which is going to satisfy so many of the recreational needs of Edmonton's citizens.

Attacks Mr. Low

Editor, Bulletin—It's nauseating to hear Mr. Solon Low blasting the Liberal government or any other party that should be elected on June 27th. It's the same old line he is scaring us with. His black forcast of depression, war, Wall Street financiers, the Geneva Trade Treaty.

Well, Sir, Mr. Low is an "opportunist" who is campaigning and laboring under the ill-founded assumption that a loud politician is a strong salesman.

It is quite untrue, as the strong statesman knows, that anyone knows how to convince the world that his argument is better than the argument of his opponent. And the only way to that conviction is to have behind the argument the facts that are ultimately beyond all doubts.

Mr. Solon Low tells us to send again to the Commons in Ottawa 13 members who will save us and expedite the coming of the Social Credit millennium.

Are we so gullible in Alberta? I hope that on June 27th we voters of Alberta will elect 17 members to represent us in forming a government.

Open Letter

Editor, Bulletin—An open letter to Mr. Geo. Prudham:

Your ad. in the paper telling about the generosity of the Liberal government to the returned men of Great War II is very heartening and I congratulate the party for this. Now about the other side of the medal, almost the last thing the Liberal party did in its dying days was to turn down the request of a small increase in the WVA which is the name of the old age pensioner returned men of the front line, but at the same time boosting the old age pension of civilians.

I have no kick about the latter, but why the discrimination? Why is an old soldier on his last legs given a tougher deal than an ordinary individual: why not treat them equally and give them the same pension, as one might say, "A fitting recompense for loss of health and strength, in coming home to die in dear old Canada."

I notice the PC party come out straight and declare if they are returned they will see that this injustice is rectified and the old soldiers will get the same treatment as the civilians.

Mind you these old fellows are not asking for any special treatment, all they want is equality. At the present time there are men in this province who fought against Canada in the First Great War and now the government is giving them a pension (if married) of nearly $300 per annum in excess of what they allow to the returned men. I ask any wonder that some of these men listen to Communist propaganda, who exploit the above and tell them they certainly fought on the wrong side when they did their fighting.

But I am happy to feel that 99% of the duty boys would fight for their country in the same old way if they had their time over again no matter how they got treated in the end.

Tabulate Seed Grains

Editor, Bulletin.—Dust, heat, drought, wind, politicians, grasshoppers—and the greatest of these is drought. At the moment of writing vast areas of Saskatchewan and even greater areas in Alberta are experiencing what we farmers in the semi-area region have become more or less accustomed to. That is the heart wrenching torture of seeing the prospect of a crop vanishing with each passing hour of wind and heat.

Never in my 40 years of farming on these rolling plains have I seen such an extreme drought. Since the 11th of May, 1945, there has been little more than an inch of measurable rainfall on our farm west of Hanna. That is a little over half an inch in the manner of 48 and a little more than a half an inch several weeks ago. Now we must get rain before very long to get even feed for the stock. Pastures are nothing but a scanty remnant of shrivelled grass.

To read the optimistic crop reports as presented by elevator and grain companies, crop forecasters, etc., one would not think that the situation was at all serious. I have seen and experienced a good many crop failures and I know that taken in time there are many things that governments can do to mitigate the disastrous effect of crop failure on the farmer. I have no official responsibility whatever with any of our farm organizations but here is what I think they should get busy and do right away to prepare for the worst. They should immediately urge the Dominion government and the Wheat Board to survey and tabulate existing stores of wheat in country elevators to ascertain how much wheat of a type reasonably suitable for seed still is carried in the elevators in the areas where crop failure seems imminent and sufficient of this wheat should be retained in those houses for the seed requirements next fall. The same policy should be carried out for coarse grains, both for seed and feed. Too often have we had good clean seed shipped out in a dry year and a very inferior quality of seed shipped in again mollified with strange and diverse weed seeds at twice the original price.

Surveys should be carried on by the provincial government in the irrigation belts to find out what quantities of hay and alfalfa will be available. The provincial government out of its vast treasury of gas and liquor and oil money should be urged to pay freight on such fodder, feed and seed grains as will have to be moved.

The Dominion government should be called on to inaugurate a policy of floor prices for livestock, such floor prices to have a reasonable relationship to present prices. If this drought continues, there will be tremendous liquidation of feeder, stocker and breeding stuff. An effective floor price will prevent a tremendous loss to the farmers and ranchers of this province.

In my judgment with the present cost of producing farm products at a very high level, the time is now opportune for an upward revision of Prairie Farm Assistance Act payments. Farmers in the north and west who produce a more starchy type of wheat than our hard high protein type of wheat grown on the southern prairies of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, although not receiving direct payments should realize that the P.F.A.A. returns have helped to keep us farmers in the south in business producing the very high grade wheat which when mixed with the more starchy northern wheats brings up the quality of the whole mix to a level that makes it all good Canadian wheat. The wheat which has brought many billions of dollars of new money into Canada.

These are only a few of the things which I think should be done right away. Let us hope and pray that the rains come very soon, and if not, that the other provision be not "too little and too late."

On Wise Motherhood

Editor, Bulletin—"On depression and poverty Socialism flourishes" is supposed to be a socialistic complex, diagnosed by the so-called "free enterprisers."

No, it's the other way about. When a highly moral and intelligent person has had the real taste of poverty, depression and class-struggle, he or she eventually turns a rebel against a system of government or way of life which encourages immorality, periodic wars and periodic depressions, the latter through artificial means.

The masses are tired of handsome, dashing statesmen and their charming ladies of the political "court."

Not being very beautiful or handsome as masses, we naturally long for the honest-to-earth statesmen with understanding, steadfast minds and tender hearts, which with temptation we could trust, yet never link's with error find. Where these are not, we despise lovely cheeks or lips or eyes.

We, the masses, are wise enough to know the difference between the opportunists (who trade on their wits and personalities), who encourage the competitive system which calls into play the speculating, combative and domineering impulses, thus ever strengthening and releasing divisive and disrupting forces.

If mothers or the would-be mothers resolved to use their wisdom and intelligence to the fullest capacity so as to separate the genuine attributes from the false in our daily life, they would inspire their husbands and sons to nobler deeds, happier lives and a better world for all.

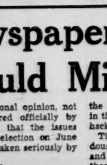
ODDS AND ENDS By Harold L. Weir

Newspapers and Politics Should Mix Judiciously

It is my personal opinion, not necessarily shared officially by this newspaper, that the issues in the general election on June 27th are being taken seriously by the public.

There should be a heavy vote.

That does not mean that there will be a heavy vote because the factors which contribute to a record poll are so varied and multitudinous as to baffle prognostication infinitely more acute than my own.



WEIR

When the Gallups and the other oracles of erstwhile repute retire in confusion from the field, it remains for me to keep my prophecy clutched tight in my hot little hand and hocked tight in my fat little head.

Nevertheless, the issues are notably clear-cut and I believe that most of the electorate are giving them earnest study.

So, poised somewhat nervously over my little tripod and bearing the embarrassment of Dr. Gallup at ol poignantly in mind, I venture to put in my two-bits worth about:

1. There will be a bigger per capita vote on June 27th than in any preceding Canadian general election.

2. The division of public opinion will be along the lines of issues rather than of party adherence.

Excellent Candidates

One of my reasons for believing that electors will vote for issues rather than for party is the outstanding excellence of most of the candidates who have been nominated, not only in the Edmonton district, but, so far as I can learn, throughout Canada.

What I mean is that many of the candidates are personalities in themselves and not mere party hacks.

Thus, there will be a tremendous vote cast for personalities and for the issues raised by those personalities.

That is why I say that issues rather than parties will determine the election.

In my opinion, the most vital issue before the electorate is the matter of free enterprise as opposed to state control.

The reason for that is that the significance of free enterprise has been emphasized in the extreme authoritarianism of Soviet Russia, the system of state control now existing in England and the Socialist experiment in Saskatchewan.

These factors have so magnetized the situation that all public opinion tends to rally to one pole or the other.

Thus, the party that appears to offer the most firm opposition to state control will attract a substantial vote that hitherto has been on the fringe of several parties.

The candidates, who most successfully crystalize the vague popular aversion to state control should have an unusually large following.

General Principles

I am at one with this newspaper in opposition to state control. Nevertheless there are some fine and honest men who are supporting the Socialist principle

Communism, I believe, is utterly malevolent because, unlike any other party, it aims to overthrow our way of life, our political system and our institutions and to invite into Canada the overlordship of the Russian Soviet Empire.

So far as Socialism merges into Communism, as it tends to do, it also is malevolent and intolerable.

These are general principles and as far, I am convinced, as any honest newspaper or newspaper writer should go.

Definite political and religious dogmas, although the two are not of comparable significance, should not be forced on anybody by press pressure or anything else.

It is the function of journalism to interpret political news and political doctrine. It is not the function of journalism to sell them.

Power Of The Press

Some years ago, all three daily newspapers of Seattle, Washington, vigorously opposed a certain candidate for public office.

There was General Clarance Blethen's Seattle Times, an able, home-owned evening paper, Mr. Hearst's Post-Intelligencer, interesting and spectacular, and the Scripps-Howard Star, also interesting but not so spectacular.

All three made a dead set against this candidate and since the home-owned Times was particularly influential, nobody expected he could possibly be elected.

But he was elected. He was not only elected, but by a thumping majority.

Next day, General Blethen, smarting under this public debuke to his articles and since paper, took a full page and under a huge 8-column heading, which read "The Power of the Press Is Damned," he developed a thesis which I believe is axiomatic for newspapers.

He said that the power of the press did not lie in forcing party doctrine down readers' throats, but in explaining and interpreting political doctrine honestly.

He said that the power of the press was the power of construction and not the power of tearing down.

I don't think that definition can be improved upon.

House Building Seen Long-Term

St. Laurent Says Jobs Assured Years Ahead

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister St. Laurent says he expects housing construction will provide jobs on a large scale in Canada for years to come.

Addressing a federal election campaign meeting last night in London, Ont., he said Canada's population is growing "so fast that the supply of homes will not and cannot catch up with demand even in a year or two."

Mr. St. Laurent, who today swings into eastern Ontario for speeches at Kingston and Brockville, said the government is constantly working towards increasing both Canada's exports and imports.

MUST IMPORT

"We cannot expect to have stable markets for our exports unless we are prepared to import from our customers. Right now, our trade is at the highest level in history. There are trade problems but prospects are much better than in 1945."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, also made campaign addresses yesterday. Mr. Drew in the Ontario communities of Orillia and Oshawa and Mr. Coldwell in Lacombe, Alta. Mr. Coldwell also made a transcribed broadcast address from Edmonton over a CBC national network.

Mr. Drew is scheduled to speak in Joliette, Que., this afternoon and in Three Rivers, Que., tonight. Mr. Coldwell is to address a meeting tonight in Winnipeg.

GUARANTEED PRICES

Mr. Coldwell in his 15-minute broadcast said a CCF federal government would propose a system of guaranteed prices for farm products. He said a marketing act is needed to enable establishment of marketing boards for farm products.

He said at Calgary that his party, if it gains power June 27, will give Canadians "real freedom, "whereas today they are shackled by the uncertainties and insecurity of the so-called free enterprise system."

In his Lacombe speech, Mr. Coldwell said, under Liberal government policy, the small independent oil refineries of western Canada are being shackled with high costs.

NEW CONFERENCE

Mr. Drew at Orillia said a Progressive Conservative government would call a new Dominion-Provincial conference to iron out social security problems and other matters. He said such a government would be willing to co-operate with all provincial governments.

At Oshawa, Mr. Drew told a noisy group of hecklers that they were "giving an example of the intelligence of the CCF." The true test of democracy is a willingness to listen to all points of view and then form an opinion.

Mr. Drew in the Oshawa address outlined his party's policies of social security, trade and taxation.

ALPENA, Mich., June 18.—(AP)—William A. Comstock, 71, Governor of Michigan in 1933-34, died Thursday. Comstock, a Democrat, suffered a stroke May 24, while on a vacation. He had been in hospital since then.

COW-TOWN REVENUES SHOW GOOD INCREASE

CALGARY, June 18.—(CP)—Evidence the police are clamping down on violations of the traffic bylaw is reflected in the city's sundry revenues for the five months ended May 31 when the revenue from traffic fines totalled $10,438 which was approximately $7,000 in excess of the receipts a year ago.

The total sundry revenues for the period amounted to $882,564 or $96,569 more than for the corresponding five months last year. The chief increase was shown in the utility surpluses which were up by $60,865.

License fees were up by $2,500; building permits by $4,000; plumbing fees by $2,200; electric wiring fees by $1,600; airport fees by $1,000 and municipal golf course fees by $3,800.

The surplus in the electric light department was $228,426 as against $138,966; waterworks surplus $90,110 as against $69,222 while the paving department showed a deficit of $11,733 because the work done had not been charged to the proper departments. The paving department deficit a year ago was $12,271.

South Canal Gets Wetting

LETHBRIDGE, June 18.—(CP)—Water was turned into the main canal of the South Macleod irrigation district yesterday for the first time, to soak canal sides and bottom, and after running for seven hours the water was shut off again.

Farmers in the irrigation project have not yet completed construction of their irrigation distribution systems and are not ready to use irrigation water.

Expectations are, however, that construction will be sufficiently advanced to have about 2,500 acres under irrigation during this summer.

Water for the project is pumped from the Old Man River into storage reservoirs, from which it can be released into the main canal.

The pumping station, powered by electricity, is about two miles west of Macleod.

Calgary OK's School Cadets

CALGARY, June 18 — (CP) — Voluntary cadet training will be carried on in Calgary high schools. Members of the Calgary School Board Thursday rejected by a four to two vote, a proposal to abolish such training.

Board members supporting continuation of cadet training said people today should be realistic and as such educate their children for the kind of world they have to face.

TWO PILOTS UNHURT AS PLANES HIT

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., June 18.—(UP)—Two lucky F4U Corsair pilots had only minor scratches and sore muscles as souvenirs of a collision while flying.

Midshipman Donald K. Zerbe of Glenwood Springs, Colo., parachuted to safety on Padre Island yesterday after his plane collided with one piloted by Midshipman Thomas H. Thornberg of Portland, Ore.

Thornberg made a crash landing on the island. They were picked up by a navy helicopter 20 minutes after the crash.

Water Crisis At Montreal

MONTREAL, June 18.—(CP)—Montrealers were warned bluntly yesterday in the midst of a sizzling heat wave, that if present rate of water consumption is continued the supply will be exhausted in two or three days. In making this statement, Councillor J. O. Asselin, chairman of the city's executive committee, said the public works department had been authorized to take "drastic means" if necessary, to halt waste of water.

Jane Cowl, famed Broadway dramatic star, made a movie in 1917 and then stayed away from the cameras for 32 years.

Trawlers Are Backbone Of U.K. Ocean Fishing

By Shaun McQuillan

LONDON, June 18.—(CP)—Unobtrusively, manned by hardy, weather-worn fishermen, a fleet of trawlers wallows its way to the swells of icy Arctic seas.

It is the backbone of Britain's deep-sea fishing.

Regardless of weather, alive so risks of a fruitless trip, the 600-ton vessels trawl the year round for cod, plaice, and haddock. They provide up to 40 per cent of Britain's total fish supplies.

There are about 240 trawlers working the fishing grounds of Bear Island, Spitzbergen, Hope Island and the Barents Sea.

BUSY TRIPS

Trips average 24 days. More than half this time is used on going to and from the fish-areas. With 8-10 days left for fishing it's a period of heavy work for the crews.

Till recently the 24-26 crew-members on a trawler worked an unrelieved 18 hours daily during peak periods. Now they work 16 hours daily in two shifts.

"It was not found a paying proposition to keep them working more than eight hours up to their waists in freezing water and fish guts," T. S. Leach, chief inspector of fisheries for the United Kingdom, told the Canadian Press.

TOUGH YOUNG MEN

"Even at the new rate of working, and in such conditions, it's a young man's job—tough young men. There are few deepsea fishermen older than 40. The strain is too much."

But pay is good. On an average catch for one trip—200 tons—a deck hand would drew £90 to £95 ($320-$360).

The skipper's share, based on percentage like his crew, would be £800-£2,900.

"The pay may sound more attractive to many," said Leach. "But they'd probably think differently if they experienced the icy winds, dense, Camp fogs and heavy swells that are no picnic even on a calm day.

DEATHS RARE

Deaths are not frequent. Occasionally a trawler may run aground. But with modern facilities like radar and radio, danger from storms and icebergs is practically eliminated.

DOCKS FOR LAST TIME

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP)—After skippering "every gosh-darn thing you can imagine" around the Great Lakes for 47 years, Capt. Albert H. Foot made the last run of his career this week in the tanker Texaco Chief. When the tanker docked here yesterday, Capt. Foot stepped down to the dock and into retirement.

Tailor Robbed Of Suit Material

CALGARY, June 18.—(CP)—Police today are investigating theft of $1,400 worth of suiting material from the shop of Jack Mitchell, 17th Avenue West custom tailor.

Police said they were investigating possibility that the shopbreaking might have been an "inside job."

Aussie Coal Lack Augurs Depression

SYDNEY, Australia, June 18.—(CP)—Widespread unemployment was predicted yesterday following the government's drastic coal-rationing order in New South Wales. It was estimated that about 100,000 industrial workers might be affected. The order directs steel plants to use only enough coal to keep the factories in order.

A Message from MILNER

• COMMUNISM

I am firmly opposed to Communism. The Communist would destroy the church. He would destroy family life. The labor unions would be state controlled.

The Liberal Party has TALKED of this menace, but has taken no action to banish it from Canada.

Our Progressive-Conservative Party will rigorously enforce the legislation necessary to combat Communism. We will take every step to crush this threat to our freedom.

Archbishop's Files Probed by Police

Vatican Sources Believe Czech Prelate May Be Tried

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 18.—(UP)—Czech police were reported ransacking the church files of Archbishop Josef Beran today in what Vatican sources openly feared was a possible search for evidence to bring the prelate to trial.

Vatican sources said they hoped events in Czechoslovakia would not be the sequel to the Hungarian campaign against the church and the Budapest trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

An unidentified source inside Msgr. Beran's palace reported by telephone that the search of church files had been going on in the consistory since police entered the palace last Wednesday.

This same source said, however, that the archbishop, a bitter enemy of the Communist Czech government, was in good health and that his movements had not been restricted.

Church sources said the archbishop probably would leave the palace tonight for the first time since Wednesday to keep a speaking engagement at Prague's Strahov monastery.

The whereabouts of two of the archbishop's aides seized by police soon after they entered the palace remained a mystery today. The aides are Rudolf Doerner, chancellor of the consistory, and Karel Kucera, a priest who worked in the consistory. A government spokesman declined to comment on their reported detention.

Police occupation of the archbishop's palace was believed to be only one phase of the church-state fued.

Japs Discover They Lost War

TOKYO, June 18.—(Reuters)—Prince Takamatsu, brother of Emperor Hirohito, yesterday assured six Japanese from Brazil that Japan lost the war.

The Japanese, the first to visit Japan from Brazil since the end of the war, said half of Brazil's 300,000 Japanese still believe Japan won the war or that the war was still going on.

Prince Takamatsu said he hoped the Brazilian Japanese would "face reality."

Out-of-Season Blossoms Promise Wide New Vista

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 18.—(AP)—Scientists are beginning to get results in their efforts to force plants to blossom out of season.

Only a small beginning has been made, but the potentialities are enormous.

Artificial control of blossoming would mean that fruits, vegetables and flowers would be on hand at least a part of the time when they normally are not available. It might also mean more temperate zone fruits and vegetables for northern climates.

First success toward controlling the blossoming of a hardy common plant was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here by Dr. James Bonner, of California Institute of Technology.

BUDS AT WILL

Dr. Bonner, using chemicals made cockleburrs produce flower buds almost at will. The plants, however, did not develop complete blossoms. This means that blossoming involves more than one process, however, the fact that it has been artificially started suggests the rest of the process also may be subject to human control.

Other researchers previously had started the blossoming process in pineapples in Hawaii out of season. The pineapple, however, is a highly specialized plant not related to the common fruits and vegetables of the western hemisphere's temperate zone.

Dr. Bonner's cockleburrs belong to a wider category of plants which normally grow throughout the summer and blossom in the fall when the days are short. Tree fruits and garden vegetables belong to still other classes with a complex blossoming mechanism.

LIGHTING CONTROL

One way to make the cocklebur blossom Dr. Bonner said, is to put the plant under controlled lighting which produces the equivalent of either long or short days. During short days the plant stops growing and concentrates its energies on the blossoming process. If returned to long days it stops blooming and resumes growing.

The only other method is to apply chemical called an anti-auxin. Auxins are hormones which control numerous growth processes. The anti-growth substance counteracts the natural auxins in the plant and stops growth. The blooming process then begins.

LONG SAFETY MARK BROKEN

HARRIMAN, Tenn., June 18.—(UP)—The record of traffic deathless days in this small east Tennessee town has ended at 2,821 days. The record was broken when nine-year-old Barbara Lee sharp died 45 days after she was struck by an automobile.

FIRST MALIGNE GUEST

Ice-Sheathed Angler Completely Satisfied

JASPER PARK LODGE, June 18.—It snowed, hailed and sleeted at Maligne Lake yesterday but this off-season temperamental tizzy of the weather didn't make Lee C. Bolles of Plattsburg, N.Y. the least bit unhappy.

First fishing guest of the 1949 season to go into Fred Brewster's camp at Maligne, Mr. Bolles came out with what he described as the most completely satisfying catch of fish he had ever experienced in many years of angling.

Sixteen beautiful Eastern Brook trout, weighing from two to three-and-a-half pounds each were in his creel to testify both to his skill as a fisherman and the co-operation of the fish.

"It was beautiful," said the happy angler. "I fished from a boat and out in the open like that I was sheathed in ice. But those fish were biting and I didn't mind anything."

Mr. Bolles said he couldn't find words to describe the beauty of Maligne Lake. "I have fished and hunted in many parts of the world, but I have never in all my life seen anything to equal Maligne," he said.

Before the storm Mr. Bolles said the trout rose to the fly, and during the storm they went just as eagerly after a small spinner troll. His total catch was divided into two days of fishing.

Police Participation In Election Barred

MONTREAL, June 18.—(CP)—City police have been instructed to refrain from taking an active part, secretly or publicly, in the federal election campaign, assistant director of police Alfred Belanger announced yesterday. No reason was given for the warning.

Christian Science

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question will be answered in the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in Christian Science churches. It is composed of passages like these: "I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded." governs the universe, including (Isaiah 45: 12). "God creates and man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, By Mary Baker Eddy, p. 285).

Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 19, 1949.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—It is easier to brush things aside sometimes, but it isn't always the BEST way—can cause hard feelings, unforeseen errors. Be thoughtfully careful in little matters.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Keep even tempo, and that same healthfully even mental pace, too. When night comes, erase the mental slate to relax for restful sleep. Firsts: Spiritual needs, proper diet.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Stop to think before you act or decide: give your brains a chance to formulate sound opinions, decisions. Start day right at your church; keep it going right in manner and attitude.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Mind what you say about people and their ways or opinions. You may, like many of us now, be tempted to criticize harmfully. Cancer's true graciousness can win over severe odds.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Make this a much better day than it promises with your own inborn buoyancy and good humor, and by showing appreciation of life's little glories. Pray; help those about you.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Of course, first thought should be of God, spiritual needs, church, charity activities; and high in importance are sufficient healthful exercise and congenial association with loved ones.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Make plans early for an active day (unless you need rest—then take it!); seek some diversification which refreshes mind and body for week ahead. Keep hopeful; smile.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) When you arise today, give first thoughts to God, the needs of your soul. Too often we think of material gains solely, thus becoming immune to the real gifts of life. Don't strain.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Don't get into a rut, even a one-day rut! It's our attitude, outlook, thinking that puts us in a good or bad position for the day, year or lifetime. History verifies this.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—You may not be able to accomplish or plan all you had wished to, this Sunday, but much CAN be gained by right method, consistency, smiles. Religious services will get you off on right foot.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) Be not over-anxious; don't strain, do give your own ingenuity and talents a chance to prove themselves. If others aren't as pleasant as they should be, don't let that bother your day.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Not only should you express yourself and exploit your versatility (smartly, graciously), but you need not agree with others' opinions. Discuss intelligently, don't just argue.

You Born Today have many gifts for which to be ever grateful to a wonderful God. You can readily make (and keep, if you mind yourself) friends—attract people of high standard and position, regardless of your station. Strive always to educate yourself and better your status; natives of this Sign, Gemini, have reached top positions around the world. But you MUST learn to concentrate, be more consistent, and not be satisfied with superficial knowledge. Coordinate your talents; don't pull in directions against your own success. Birthdate of: Blaise Pascal, famed French philosopher, mathematician, scientist.

FOR MONDAY, JUNE 20, 1949.

March 21 to April 20 (Aris)—Make this a practical, routine day; stars indicate little extra encouragement. See that business and domestic duties are properly attended to, and that you keep your side of a bargain.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Your planet's (Venus') position for endeavors requiring money, deeds or contracts suggests added caution. Much of your happiness depends on your individual action, disposition.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Do not become over-enthused; there may be a joker around. Be sure first before acting. Expert workers—you working with chemicals, electricity—will experience encouragement.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Judicious administration in your every task, and sincerity exercised throughout, will bring fine results. Stars forecast good will, so work to that end and achieve.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Excellent outlook all day for wise investments, business deals, prospecting for orders. Maybe someone will visit you with good news or make helpful suggestions.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Uncertain aspects in some matters so be on your guard against tricky obstacles, irritation. Take all things as you do daily work; good and bad are all in a day's line of duty.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—You may feel the urge to get out and "do something about it." Don't, until you are well informed—THEN DO! Tendency to confusion. Be wise; think well before deciding.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) —Mars seems to be irritated today. Watch what you say, how you act, if you care about results. Don't be annoyed or upset at day's adverses; take them smilingly, matter-of-factly.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Go safely slow, especially in money or important issues concerning personal property, income. Overlook incidental disturbances make little of others' errors for better harmony.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—More unusual things in the making. Avoid being vain and temperamental in dealing with others; it just doesn't work out well. Varied experiences may come; be yourself always.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) —Fortunate you, today. Stars favorable for most worthy endeavors. Manifest poise, a desire to learn and please, and things will be more than okay. News can help considerably.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Confidential matters, those favoring the sea not all smooth. This day can be at least fairly fruitful for routine, general undertakings. Show some spunk for results.

You Born Today—Have many fine ideas, can think up good business schemes, but often do not follow through or finish what you start! Dislike being held down. Be more content, always seek higher education and concentrate on the better things. Are progressive, original and, if rightly self-controlled, can step to high achievement rapidly. Often inventive; are artistic; may have journalistic talent. Birthdate: Anna L. Barbauld, poet, miscellanist.

West Union Talks Military Problems

Five Foreign Ministers Hold Parley Behind Closed Doors

By H. W. Thompson

LUXEMBOURG, June 18.—(UP)—The five foreign ministers of the Brussels pact (western union) countries met for the second day behind closed doors today, to discuss military problems affecting Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France were attending the meeting during the two-day recess of the big four foreign ministers council in Paris, which is scheduled to resume tomorrow.

One of the military problems scheduled for discussion today was the reported British proposal to have Belgian occupation troops withdrawn from Bonn, slated as the capital of the new west German state.

Belgian government sources said that Belgian troops might be withdrawn from Bonn if they are assigned another part of Germany to occupy, and if Britain pays the cost of the shift.

SECRET SO FAR

The meeting here is scheduled to end tonight. It has been secret so far, but a communique may be issued at the close. During the meeting Bevin and Schuman are expected to give a full report on the Paris big four meeting where east and west have argued over Germany and Austria.

The five foreign ministers met for four hours yesterday. They reported later they had discussed "cultural affairs." These presumably included in a long range campaign for instilling in European children a love for democracy and an antagonism for totalitarianism.

The military discussions of the ministers were understood to be aimed at preventing duplication of of effort in carrying out the Brussels Treaty, the Atlantic Pact military arrangements and the council of Europe.

War Planes Retired

LONDON, June 18.—(Reuters)—The Bristol Beaufighter, one of the most famous wartime aircraft types of the RAF, is about to be withdrawn from operation service after an active career of nearly nine years, the air ministry announced yesterday.

LIGHT SENTENCE

Lights Off, Funds Out, Prison On

VANCOUVER, June 18.—(CP)—Mrs. Bertha Sinclair, mother of four children, is prepared to go to jail for five days. And, she plans to take the children with her.

A rooming house operator, she was fined $25 or five days in jail for failing to light the halls of her house.

The electric current was cut off for non-payment of a bill, and Mrs. Sinclair claims she is destitute and unable to make payment.

Her landlord offered to pay the overdue bill but he wants her to move. She can't find a place to live.

Convicted Thursday, she must pay the fine by Monday or go to jail.

Her children range in age from two to seven years.

Roomers in her house have been lighting their rooms with candles since the power was cut off.

Philly Orchestra Has Poor Season

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—(AP)—The Philadelphia orchestra, which just completed a 28-concert tour of England, wound up its season $78,412 in the red, it was announced Thursday. The orchestra gave 177 concerts during the season, including the 28 concerts in Britain which were underwritten by a British sponsor and hence represented no financial loss.

Negroes Gain Entry To South College

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 18.—(AP)—The University of Kentucky announced Thursday it would permit negroes to attend classes with whites to comply fully with a federal court mandate. The announcement said the school had decided that the federal order that negroes should be admitted to the school prevailed over the Day law covering segregation. (The Day law provides that white and negroes cannot go to the same school.)

Churches

DEDICATION SERVICES of new First Church of Nazarene at 97 street and 110A avenue will take place in the church Sunday at 3 p.m. when Rev. Edward Lawlor, district superintendent of Canada West District of Church of Nazarene will be guest speaker. Rev. A. B. Patterson, minister of new church, will be in charge of service.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

AMEN

The Hebrew expression Amen is perhaps the most widely known word in human speech. It is used in prayer and worship not only by Christians and Jews, but, in a minor degree, by Mohammedans.

Amen is a word rich in significance. As an affirmation, it signifies "so be it." As an expression of assent, it means "so it is," or "so it will be." It has been used in the secular sense of "yes," but with more than ordinary emphasis.

In harmony with the meaning "so it will be," was Christ's usage of Amen to underscore the gravity and importance of what He was about to say. In this case, Amen is translated as "verily." Many of St. Paul's mightiest assertions are strengthened with an Amen.

The most common use of Amen by Protestants and Catholics alike is at the end of the Lord's Prayer. It also appears in many hymns as a final graceful and impressive punctuation.

Amen is also appended to the recitation of the Act of Contrition by Catholics. It then serves as an added prayer that God may bless and strengthen the penitent sinner's determination to avoid sin and its occasions in the future.

Because of its familiarity, the word Amen may have come to lose some of its edge. But a little reflection should serve to recapture some of its significance and beauty.

Whether we pray at church or at home, aloud or silently, the syllables of the Amen should be formed with deep reverence and full recollection. Amen is man's most frequent vocal obeisance to God. It merits all the solemnity and dignity with which we can invest it.

In repeating the Amen, we should think of God as the ultimate Amen, the Infinite Lover filled with tenderness and compassion, Whose arms will be an eternal refuge to all who have given Him true and abiding homage—to all who have learned to say "so be it" to whatsoever He has willed.

COME TO CHURCH THIS SUNDAY

Beulah Tabernacle

On Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Beulah Tabernacle pastor H. J. McVety will preach the first sermon in a Sunday evening series based on the seven prophetic messages to the seven representative churches mentioned in the second and third chapters of the Book of the Revelation. Pastor McVety's message of this week will deal with the question, "To whom will God give the right to eat of the tree of life which is in the midst of the paradise of God? When?" The soloist in the Sunday evening services at Beulah Tabernacle will be Miss Marion White of Edmonton, who during the past year has served on the studio staff of the Sunrise Gospel Hour in Calgary.

Visiting Scots Will Speak Here Sunday

A pair of Scottish Presbyterian ministers arrived in the city recently on an extended visit of Canada, and on Sunday will preach at services in St. Andrews and First Presbyterian churches.

Rev. William Horsburgh, MA, CCF, youngest of the two visitors, is a native of Forfar, Angus, Scotland, and an officiating chaplain of the Royal Navy.

Educated at University of St. Andrews, Scotland's oldest university, Mr. Horsburgh is now minister of Queensferry parish, a quaint little town on the outskirts of Edinburgh.

On Sunday he will preach at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church here.

Rev. Mr. Thomson is a Lowland Scot, born in Prestonpens, East Lothian.

During war years, following his ordination to the ministry, he served in auxiliary forces of the Special Constabulary.

He is now attached to the parish at Althestaneford, East Lothian, as well as being chaplain to East Fortune Sanitorium.

Mr. Thomson speaks at First Presbyterian tomorrow.

Special Services At Metropolitan

In addition to the Summer Communion and reception of new members a special dedication service will be held in Metropolitan Sunday morning, when additional furnishings for the chancel and church chapel will be dedicated.

The chancel reredos, made possible by the generous gifts of Mrs. J. A. McTavish, in memory of her sister Miss Lang, and a special gift by Dr. Morrish and family, will be presented by John Chapman on behalf of the donors. George Prudham, chairman of the trustee board will accept the gift on behalf of the church, and the minister will conduct the dedication ceremony. The gifts of a chapel communion table together with altar cloth and ornament, by the Junior W.A. will be presented by Mrs. D. McElroy and Mrs. A. M. Fraser and dedicated by Mrs. Thompson.

U.K. Resists U.S. Pact Objections

Argentine Trade Agreement Stirs Storm in Washington

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(AP)—Britain today is reported standing fast on its proposed trade agreement with Argentina, despite strong objections from the United States.

Senator Guy Cordon (Rep., Ore.), describing the agreement as "an ominous threat" to world recovery, said the Senate appropriations committee will call on James Webb, undersecretary of state, for a full report on the U.S. position.

Under the pact, Britain and Argentina would exchange goods and commodities for a five-year period.

DAMAGE ARGUED

Officials here are fearful this would give Britain a strangle-hold on the Argentine food market. In addition, they argue, it is the type of trade agreement which could hurt Europe's recovery.

Cordon told a reporter the freedom in world trade desired by the United States never will come about if the world faces barriers thrown up by a government "which feels it must protect itself in some particular field."

John Taylor, commercial minister of the British embassy, was reported to have insisted during a state department visit yesterday that the Argentine agreement—due to be signed Tuesday—is essential to British recovery.

That statement, delivered to Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorp, was taken as a tentative rejection of U.S. protests.

HOFFMAN BITTER

Paul Hoffman, Economic Co-operation Administrator, bitterly denounced the pact yesterday while defending ECA's recovery spending. ECA is asking $3,568,470,000 for next year—with permission to spend the money in 10½ months if necessary.

Hoffman told senators ECA will use "every pressure" possible against the Britain-Argentina type of trade pact. Two days ago he said such trade barriers must be wiped out if European recovery is to be considered a good risk in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1951.

Health Insurance Dominant Topic at Doctors' Parley

By Erwin Fricke

SASKATOON, June 18.—(CP)—The 13,000 doctors in Canada today are probably more concerned about health insurance than they are with any other single facet of their profession.

Health insurance—how it is and how it might be operated in Canada and the forms it takes in other parts of the British Commonwealth—overshadowed any other single feature of the five-day Canadian Medical Association convention which wound up here yesterday.

Technological advances—usually the centre of interest at the CMA's annual meeting—took second place this week.

VARIATIONS ON THEME

The 1,000 delegates heard variations on the main theme from the retiring president, Dr. William Magner of Toronto; from representatives of the federal government, from leading medical men of Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand and from Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan.

The general council of the CMA held lengthy closed conferences on the subject and issued a report giving the CMA's official stand.

The statement said the CMA proposed to adopt "all means within its power to further the development and extension of prepaid medical care plans in Canada." But a national compulsory program of health insurance was described by Dr. Magner in an address as abhorrent to the medical profession.

IN SOCIALIST COUNTRIES

Delegates heard members of medical associations in New Zealand and Great Britain tell of the fight doctors in their respective countries—both with Socialist governments—had put up against compulsory features of their completely socialized medicine programs.

But both doctors said their countries' medical professions now are determined to make the socialized plans work.

The ceremony will take place in Church House, Westminster, temporary home of the colonial office. The King's address will be heard later on the western section of the trans-Canada network.

Know-How and Needle Can Relieve Much Pain

By Erwin Fricke

SASKATOON, June 18.—(CP)—A doctor with a needle, a syringe, a drug and the "know-how" can relieve many types of pain without taking the patient to hospital, the Canadian Medical Association was told yesterday.

Dr. Virginia Apgar of New York advocated greater use of nerve block therapy in relieving the pain of cancer patients, persons with shingles, cerebral thrombosis and varicose ulcers of the legs.

Dr. Apgar said nerve blocking was simple, comparatively safe and economical. It involved injection of chemicals—usually procaine—into nerves, frequently in the neck, and thus blocking off their control of those sections of the body giving pain. It was similar to the "freezing" practice of dentists.

IMPROVE CIRCULATION

The drug served to dilate the blood vessels, or allow them to relax, improving the blood circulation.

In some cases of sudden blindness, an injection in the neck improved the recovery of vision. Where blindness was due to blood clots in vessels of the eye, nerve blocking relaxed the blood vessels around the blood clot and the clot moved on.

Similarly in cerebral thrombosis—blood clots in the brain—a shot in the neck by improving blood circulation would relieve pain and sometimes enable tae blood clot to move on.

PHANTOM PAINS

Amputees, who suffered "phantom pains" in limbs which they did not have, could be relieved of this pain by nerve blocking. Dr. Apgar said so far they had failed to relieve the pain of arthritics by this method but experiments still are being carried on.

In the paediatrics section of the CMA convention, Dr. J. H. Ebbs of Toronto reported a higher mortality rate among bottle-fed babies than those that were breast-fed.

Sterling Hayden, his wife and their baby live on the star's boat 30 miles from Hollywood at San Pedro, Calif. He commutes to the studio.

Liberals will win on June 27th

According to today's Canadian Institute of Public Opinion poll, the Liberal party is favored by far over others contesting the federal election, June 27. But the personal popularity of Mr. St. Laurent tops even that of his party as the election date draws near. A full 40 per cent of the eligible voters have declared themselves as desiring a Liberal victory, while 44 per cent regard the Liberal leader as "best prime minister for Canada." P.C.'s polled only 24 per cent, George Drew only 20 per cent.

Included among voters who regard Canada's first citizen as the finest person for the office were 19 per cent of those who classified themselves as Progressive Conservatives. Liberal prime minister was given top rating in every province of the Dominion in this matter of prestige.

Under leadership of Mr. St. Laurent, support of the Liberal party is climbing steadily as the election date draws near. Between April and May of this year the Progressive Conservative party lost ground, the institute report shows, but the Liberal pary continued to make gains, climbing from 33 to 40 per cent in polling of public opinion. Greatest rise in popularity for Mr. St. Laurent's party came in Quebec, where 54 per cent of those eligible now indicate they will vote Liberal as compared to 17 per cent who still favor Progressive Conservatives.

WIT AND BRILLIANCE that kept Oscar Wilde's play "Lady Windermere's Fan" on English stage for months has been captured intact in movie version showing Monday at Empress theatre. Produced under name of "The Fan" it stars Jeanne Crain, Madeleine Carroll, George Sanders and Richard Greene.

Oscar Wilde Play Becomes Movie

Once Shocking to Society Now Pleasing to Film Fans

Movie version of one of Oscar Wilde's most popular plays comes to the Empress theatre Monday.

"The Fan," produced by Twentieth-Century Fox from the original play "Lady Windermere's Fan" stars Jeanne Crain, Madeleine Carroll, George Sanders and Richard Greene.

Play which shocked and amused English society just after the turn of the century continues to enjoy record runs when produced in America today.

Jeanne Crain, playing the leading role of Margaret, the Lady Windermere, is by coincidence in three ways similar in life to Lady Margaret. Both are 22 years old, both were married two years and both have infant sons.

Jeanne will be seen in the film in an array of costly costumes, replete with hour-glass corsets, bustles and trains.

It is no longer a mystery to Jeanne why women in that period "ate like birds."

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD.—(AP)—Here's what the new John Barrymore is like.

He has just turned 17 and he has the good looks of his famed father. The profile is an amazing likeness. He talks softly, but when he warms up to a subject, you can hear the sonorous Barrymore tones.

His only acting lessons have been alone before a mirror, but he is an assured young man and his hand gestures are often actor-like. He smokes but does not drink. Romantically he is still playing the field.

He attends a private school in Hollywood. He likes all sports, including football, swimming, diving and gymnastics. One of his favorite pastimes is watching surgical operations, which he can describe in vivid detail.

He is a solid movie fan. His favorite actor now is Richard Widmark; next, Vincent Price. He has seen "The Three Musketeers" 19 times.

FILTHY BUSINESS

He decided he wanted to be an actor a couple of years ago. I asked him why.

"I guess it's because you always want the things that are denied you," he answered. "My mother (Dolores Costello) always wanted me to be a doctor or a lawyer or something like that. When I decided I wanted to be an actor, she told me 'It's a filthy business.'

"I think it's like any other business; there are both good and bad people here. Hollywood gets all the publicity because people are famous here.

"If John Doe marries Mary Smith, its' nothing. But if Rita Hayworth marries Aly Khan, it's a big thing."

Barrymore, Jr. overcame his mothers objections and signed a contract with Alan Lemay and George Templeton. He'll get $7,500 for the first picture, "Thunder In The Dust", a western in which he, Robert Preston and Robert Sterling will play brothers. If he's a success, he gets $30,000 for the second film.

The lad doesn't remember his father and has seen him on the screen once.

John L. Accepts Negotiation Bid

North, West Coal Operators Open UMW Talks Wednesday

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(UP)—John L. Lewis has accepted the proposal of northern and western coal operators to open contract negotiations next Wednesday at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., it was disclosed today.

Officials of the United Mine Workers said both the time and the place are acceptable to Lewis. He may notify the producers formally of his acceptance of their offer before nightfall.

White Sulphur Springs is in the heart of southern soft coal fields. It also is site of the annual meeting of the Southern Coal Producers Association, with whom the United Mine workers have been bargaining for the past four weeks without any progress.

STRATEGIC MOVE

Industry sources said Lewis' acceptance of the site for his meeting with northern and western operators appears to be a strategic move to block southerners' efforts to obtain a separate contract with the mine workers.

Present contract expires on June 30. Lewis reportedly hopes to replace it with a new national contract embracing all soft coal producers.

The government intends to keep a close eye on the West Virginia negotiations. Officials regard the coal talks as a key to the success—or failure—of their efforts to prevent a series of strikes in major industries this summer.

4TH ROUND DUE

Negotiations are now underway for new contracts in the automobile, electrical manufacturing, rubber and steel industry. Most of the unions involved will be free to strike on July 15. They are demanding fourth round wage increases and in some cases pensions.

Joseph E. Moody, president of southern coal producers association, was cool to the idea that his group might be invited to join the Sulphur Springs talks. He said the southerners will insist on a separate contract "under which the south can live."

In an effort to assure talks on a separate agreement, Moody yesterday at Bluefield, W. Va., offered to extend the present contract until Aug. 15. But the union rejected his offer.

BONES 60 MILLION YEARS OLD FOUND

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 18. — (UP)—Bones, believed to be those of the granddaddy of all sharks, were uncovered near here by workmen excavating for a new road.

The bones, approximately 75 feet long, were found at a depth of 25 feet. Workmen said the teeth were bigger than a man's hand.

Dr. D. H. Dunkle, associate curator of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, expressed the opinion that the find was a Cartherodon, a shark which thrived about 60,000,000 years ago.

Guards Doubled

HAMBURG, Germany, June 18—(AP)—The Russians have doubled their border guards in an effort to stop Germans fleeing from their zone to the west, it was officially reported today.

Asbestos Settlement Vote Scheduled Soon

QUEBEC, June 18.—(CP)—A secret ballot will be taken at Asbestos, Que., among some 2,500 asbestos strikers on a settlement proposal by the Canadian Johns-Manville Company, largest of half a dozen companies involved in the four-month deadlock.

The announcement was made by Gerard Picard, president of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor.

Mr. Picard did not give the date of the vote which, he said, would be held in the same manner as the vote taken at Thetford mines earlier this week on a proposal put forth by three mining firms there. He did say, however, the workers would vote during next week.

Contents of the company proposal were not known.

Meanwhile it was reported Lewis H. Brown, president of the Canadian Johns-Manville Company arrived in Quebec today to discuss the strike with provincial government authorities.

On The Farm

By Pat McVean

About party lines, soil drifting, grasshoppers, a black-and-white farm, and Red tractors:

Grasshoppers, plaguing Southern Alberta this year, and soil drifting, occurring with alarming frequency even in the central and northern parts of the province, are reminiscent of the 30's. So are party lines.

When the depression cut off strawberry socials and chicken suppers in the school basement, and the once-a-week movies at the town hall, the party line probably served rural Alberta as never before or since. Listening-in was the best kind of amusement available, with the possible exception of listening-in on the listening-inners.

Like the time a couple of school trustees were figuring out how they could paint the school. Taxpayers had scraped up enough money for the paint, but affording a ladder was out of the question.

★ ★ ★

The trustees lingered one on each end of the party line. They discussed the possible sources of ladders, decided there were none, and when they had deplored the situation thoroughly, a listener-in could hear it no longer:

He plunged into the conversation: Whyn't you use a plank across two barrels?"

W. A. Lobay, government crop protection head, says this happened recently in a grasshopper-suspected area of Alberta:

The district agriculturist's office was decorated with the usual kind of wallpaper—posters imploring farmers to "Destroy Noxious Weeds," "Control Ring Rot," "Fight Grasshoppers." The new British settler in the district studied them carefully.

A few weeks later he reported back: He had some of those "prickly things with the purple flowers," a few cases of what looked like ring rot in his potatoes, but "blimey, none of them monsters."

He'd been looking for grasshoppers just like those shown on the big government posters—green-bodied, vicious, and fully 12 inches long.

★ ★ ★

Soil drifting is a real threat in many sections of Alberta, particularly where, blessed with ample moisture in previous years, farmers aren't prepared for it.

Emergency control methods recommended are:

Spreading of coarse manure or straw on the small patches of fields where soil drifting starts to prevent serious drifting of whole fields; plowing of furrows about a rod apart at right angles to the prevailing wind; and use of cultivator and one-way disc listers.

Duckfoot cultivator can be converted to a lister by removing all duckfoot shovels and attaching lister shovels to the proper shanks about three and a half to four feet apart. Other shanks should be tied back or springs released so they will not drag in the soil. To adapt the one-way disc to listing, remove a sufficient number of discs so that those remaining are spaced three and a half to four feet apart.

★ ★ ★

The things people write to the paper about: "How can I stock my farm so that the colors will be completely harmonious?" one reader—a woman—asked an agriculture editor.

Dead serious he wrote back: "Holstein-Friesan dairy cows, Aberdeen-Angus beef cattle, Hampshire or spotted Poland-China hogs, Hampshire sheep and Barred Plymouth Rock chicks."

Finally, on the farm in Russia: Radio Moscow reports Soviet engineers have developed a farm tractor which operates electrically off a power line. Energy is carried over a cable said to be long enough to allow the tractor to operate over 50 acres of land at a time.

Describing the beauties of this device, Radio Moscow says: "Tractor drivers call the machine a wonder; no noise, no exhaust, no dirt—in short, a pleasure to operate."

The catch? As far as we know, Russia doesn't have power lines in rural districts.

West Junior Puck Loop Accepts EAC

Maple Leafs Sign Two-Year Agreement With Detroit Wings

By Dick Beddoes

For days Edmonton's junior hockey beat had produced nothing worthy of mention in the newspapers. Suddenly, yesterday, the biggest news rash ever to break out on the junior front popped into the headlines.

The rash appeared first in the Maple Leaf Athletic Club but spread rapidly to the Edmonton Athletic Club. And before the weekend is out it is likely that Canadians and South Side will be affected to a lesser degree.

It all began late Friday when president Stan Ward announced that his organization had signed a two-year working agreement with Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey league. Minutes later Leo LeClerc, EAC hockey director, bustled into the act with the news that EAC had been accepted into the Western Canada Junior Hockey league.

The Leaf-Detroit agreement has been brewing for some time and was completed yesterday when Ward signed a contract with Clarence Moher, Red Wing scout in the Edmonton area.

Detroit courted the Leafs for obvious reasons: The Leafs promote more minor hockey teams than any other athletic club in western Canada.

LEAFS TO BENEFIT

The association will benefit the Leafs materially, giving them greater financial aid than they ever had before. For the first time in history the organization as a whole won't have to worry about where the next nickel is coming from.

And the boys in the Maple Leaf system will finally have a goal at which to aim. Should they prove good enough, Detroit will link them to the Red Wing chain.

Things were all sunshine and roses in the rival EAC camp as well.

"We are very happy," said LeClerc, "to have been granted a franchise in the WCJHL."

Among those cheering with the EAC's was Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens with whom EAC have a working agreement. Said the gray-haired Selke:

"We are naturally glad to have our junior prospects play in a league as fast as the WCJHL because it gives them a chance to show their stuff against stiff competition."

He gave EAC further cause for satisfaction when he revealed that the Clubmen "possibly" might be strengthened by juniors currently located elsewhere with Canadiens.

EAC is being admitted to the WCJHL had repercussions in several quarters. Ward, speaking for Leafs, said:

'WISH YOU LUCK'

"We wish them luck even though it probably means the end of a Junior A league in the city."

Actually the news might have been something of a bitter pill to the Leafs because last week they turned down a chance to enter the league. Since WCJHL officials had originally wanted two Edmonton teams Leafs believed their drawing would have killed any chances of EAC being accepted.

Gus Brunies, president of South Side Athletic Club, was surprised to hear EAC's had been admitted to the Western Canada Junior league fold. He had hoped that the four of us (South Side, Leafs, Canadians and EAC) could have formed a league similar to this year's," he said. "As it is, we'll wait until this present upheaval settles before making any plans."

Canadian president Tom Derrington's comment indicated that the news rash wasn't itching him a bit. Said he: "I have nothing to say."

EZZARD CHARLES
... "Heavyweight?"

Charles Puts On Poundage

KANKAKEE, Ill., June 18—(AP)—Ezzard Charles may carry the heaviest poundage of his career against Jersey Joe Walcott in their National Boxing association heavyweight championship bout at Chicago's Comiskey Park Wednesday night.

Charles, Cincinnati slugger who gained his fame as a light heavyweight, weighed 186½ pounds at a full dress, pre-fight meeting conducted yesterday by the Illinois State athletic commission here.

Walcott, 35, who twice battled retired champion Joe Louis and nearly beat him once, topped the scales at 196.

Charles handlers said their battler would trim down to 188 before he breaks training camp Tuesday. But even at that he would top his previous competitive high weight of 181½ when he outpointed Joe Maxim last February at Cincinnati.

ROAD TO DETROIT OLYMPIA opens wide to future Edmonton Maple Leaf stars as Stan Ward, Leaf president, signs contract with Detroit scout Clarence Moher. Once the contract was signed, it meant that Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey league will sponsor all Maple Leaf hockey, pee wee through to junior.

NEVER DISTURB a man while he's eating, they say, but Franke Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, doesn't seem to mind. Selke is here to confer with EAC and Flyer officials, with whom Canadiens have working agreements.

LaMotta To Take on All Comers

DETROIT, June 18—(AP)—Jake LaMotta, his left hand puffed and his right eye lightly patched, promised yesterday to be a fighting middleweight champion.

"I really worked for this one," said 26-year-old Jake who chased the 160-pound title for years. "Now I got what I wanted."

The granite-jawed thumper from New York's Bronx realized his ambition of a lifetime Thursday night at Briggs stadium when he stopped an injured Marcel Cerdan of Casablanca in the 10th round.

"Getting a chance at the title gave me incentive to work," he explained. "I'll fight anybody they say. From now on, while I'm still fighting, I'll always be in the best of shape. I found out that makes fights easier. When I get too lazy to work, I'll quit."

"What's next? That's up to the promoters. My contract calls for me to fight Cerdan again in September. I don't know where. If he can't make it because of that bum shoulder, then he has until January under the contract. We get 30-30 on an even percentage in the second fight."

Esks Knee-Deep in Hurlers; Belter Handcuffs Buffs 7-1

If pitching is 70 per cent of a ball club's strength, as has been suggested many times, then Ralph Morgan's Eskimos aren't going to be caught short.

Last night, close upon the heels of Esks 7-1 scuttling of Calgary Buffaloes in a Big Four league engagement at Renfrew Park, it was announced that pitchers Dick Lowe and Bob Peterson had been added to the staff of last season's champions.

DICK LOWE, TOO

Lowe, a former ace with Maple Leafs of the Junior circuit and more recently with Santa Barbara Dodgers of the California State loop, was in uniform last night and pitched batting practice.

Peterson is a straping (6'2") righthander who has been pitching for University of Washington. His home is in Yakima and he comes highly recommended by the same people who recently routed the starry firstscker Ted Tappe into the Esk camp.

Otherwise Ed Belter, the lone southpaw member of the Esk mound corps, continues in the unbeatable fashion that has been his since he fell off that roof and suffered a slight concussion several weeks ago.

He was out there on the knoll last night to turn back the hapless Buffs (Jim Gibson's gang is moored deep in the cellar, nine games off the pace) on a pair of hits. Buffs' third-baseman John Richardson touched Belter for a single in the second inning. His mound opponent, Brian Gibson, did likewise in the third.

FAMINE BEGINS

Otherwise it was a famine for the Calgary swatters as Belter got seven of them on strikes. The little silly-slider was plagued by wildness here and there along the way and five of the Buffs reached first base the easy way.

As a matter of fact a base-on-balls to Bob (Stretch) Garrett in the fourth inning was converted into Buffs' lone marker.

For their part Esks had no part of a picnic against Gibson! Here's one hurler who has all the stuff he'll ever need to be a big winner in Big Four circles if—and when—he learns to control it.

Gibson rationed the locals to five hits. Cliff Johnstone snatching a pair, Tappe, Ed Morris and shortstop Len Karlson matting the others. But the homebrew Calgarian was wild as they came and this proved his undoing as much as anything else.

Gibson handed out a total of eight free trips to first, hit one batsman (Ross Kortgard) and uncorked two wild pitches.

Esks biggest inning was the fourth when they manufactured four runs on just ONE hit. However Gibson walked a couple, chose this moment to plunk Kortgard in the ribs and otherwise lost track of the plate.

Tappe, who had five hits in as many tries last time out, walked three times and smacked a single in five tries last night. His work around first base continues flawless.

ED (LEFTY) BELTER
... Stingy guy.

Peterson's Win Gives Cubs Split

CALGARY, June 18—Paul Peterson of Edmonton Cubs, the Rocky Mountain House fireball currently in organized baseball's dog house, made his first Big Four Baseball league start of the season a winning one last night as he set the Cowtown Purityos down 6-2 with a four-hitter.

The victory enabled Cubs, who had dropped the opener 2-1, to gain a split as the five-game weekend series got under way.

Both games were seven innings in duration.

The only time that Purityos 'got' to Peterson was in the third inning, immediately after Cubs had given him a 6-0 lead, when Wali Gully singled home Ay Byman and Cliff Carlisle.

FANS 6, WALKS 4

Peterson, suspended at the request of the Brooklyn Dodgers when he failed to follow instructions sending him to Bisbee-Douglas of the Arizona-Texas league, fanned six and walked four.

Catcher Doug Stevenson started off the six-run rally when he 'pickled' a Bill Whyte pitch for a home run over the left field wall. By the time Al Byman, who already had captured the opener, arrived for a little 'iron man' work the six runs were across. Bernie Anderson's two-run single was the only bingle that accounted for more than one tally.

CUBS STOPPED COLD

Byman stopped Les Edwards' junior bruins all but cold in the opener as he spun a two-hitter. Cubs only run came in the fourth inning when the Calgary infield came up with a 'bone-head' play, allowing Reg Clarkson to score.

Purityos bounced back in the fifth frame for two runs, tallied by Leroy Bernadou and Carlisle.

Series continues with a single game tonight and two tomorrow.

COAST PROS TO PLAY IN OPEN

McKinnon, Wood Back Down on Earlier Stand

VANCOUVER, June 18—(CP)—The urge to pound a golf ball in top competition has overcome regional differences in the Canadian Professional Golf association.

Two of Western Canada's leading professional golfers—Vancouver's Freddie Wood and Jack McKinnon — have entered the Canadian Open, to be played at St. George's golf course near Toronto next week.

Announcement of their entries—contrary to statements earlier this week by McKinnon —was made yesterday by the Royal Canadian Golf association and confirmed here by Wood. McKinnon, speaking for several Vancouver pros, previously said they would boycott the tournament. He could not be reached for comment last night.

Their entries in the Canadian Open came as a surprising development in a feud between western and eastern pros over dates of the Open and the later CPGA Open.

At a meeting here Thursday Vancouver pros endorsed McKinnon's proposal that they break away from the CPGA and form a Western Canada Professional Golfers' association. McKinnon, pro at Capilano club, is president of their B.C section of the CPGA.

McKinnon said that the west coast pros will ask prairie professionals also on record as dissatisfied with the parent CPGA — to support the WCPGA.

He said the new organization would have an annual match play tournament to determine the WCPGA champion and would then try to arrange a play-off with the eastern champion for a dominion title.

Honors List No. 1

Herewith a B.M.M. (Bulletin Merit Medal) to the following organizations or individuals for recent worthwhile contributions to the sports picture.

Mayor Harry Ainlay and city council: For their decision to go ahead with the construction of added seating accommodations at Clarke stadium, home (soon to be) of Annie Stukus' grid Eskimos.

It was preposterous to think of a city the size of Edmonton trying to limp along with a seating capacity for football games of under 3,500. And to have anyone object to the spending of $25,000 in this particular instance hardly adds up.

City should get its money out of the project within five years at the most.

But good, Mr. Ainlay. But good.

To Hugh Baker, Jack Strachan, Tom Green, Jim MacDonald, Syd Watson and other soccer executives who worked so hard to make the visit of Newcastle United to Alberta such a success.

Visit of the famed Magpies should prove a shot in the arm for the sport that packs 'em in by the millions in other parts of the world.

To Esther Williams: Just for BEING in that baseball picture currently doing a run at a Jasper avenue show-house.

Honors List No. 2

To Ted Tappe, 18-year-old first-sacker of Eskimos of the Big Four league. The loosey-goosey kid from Seattle banged away for five hits in as many tries against Cubs in a mid-week contest, likewise made a sparkling catch of a tough foul pop-up near the first base bleachers.

Tappe's performance was one of the best seen at Renfrew in name-your-own time.

To publicity head Mrs. Tommy Morris, whose efforts to this point in the interests of the City Ladies Golf Tournament, have been high grade.

The shootin' starts Monday morning, at the Country Club.

To Jake LaMotta, the battler from the Bronx, whose 10th round TKO over Marcel Cerdan Thursday night gives him the inside track as Comeback of the Year.

Three months ago he was rated a fistic 'bum'. Now—it says here—it's Jake LaMotta, world middleweight champion.

To all sports-minded fathers: Because—although the idea is a phoney—tomorrow is Father's Day.

To management of Calgary Stampeders: For having what it takes to sign ex-Lethbridge Leafs Roy Heximer, Stan Maxwell and Jack Taggart. Competition for signatures of these three was keen and Stamp heads must have tapped their financial reserves for quite a chunk before landing the trio.

Honors List No. 3

To RCMP inspector V. W. C. Chisholm whose tireless efforts shortly will see the opening near Clover Bar, of a .22 rifle range for 'teen-agers.

The young 'uns, some of them anyway, are bound to get in their licks with their shootin' irons. So the more of these ranges the better.

To Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist who copped off the U.S. Open at Chicago last week-end and who is pacing the field at the halfway mark of the $15,000 Motor City open at Dee-troit.

Little more than 12 months ago Middlecoff had the tournament jitters so bad he literally froze on even the easiest of putts. But he has given the shakes the go by in a big way.

To the men who staged the highly successful Lloydminster baseball tournament 10 days back.

To Ian Macdonald, still able to grin last night, even though facing a tough week of it as draw-secretary for the annual City Tennis tournament.

To Harold Wismer and associates at Leduc, deep in plans for a new covered rink for 'their town.'

To Ponder, 'cause he's still the best three-year-old on the U.S. turf, that setback at the hands of Capot in the Belmont to the contrary.

To anyone who has read this far.

A SURPRISE ADDITION to Edmonton Flyers' hockey team is local boy Eddie Cutts (above), on the sideline for the last two years because of differences with Toronto Maple Leafs. Frank Selke, Montreal Canadien general manager announced yesterday that the Habs had bought Cutts' contract from Leafs and turned it over to Flyers.

Better He Should Have Stood in Bed

Perhaps Elwood Shell should have 'stood in bed' yesterday. Or maybe the righthander who toils for Canadians in the Junior Baseball circuit isn't living right.

In any event Shell fashioned a six-inning three-hitter against CNR at Clarke Stadium last night and did himself no good whatsoever. Final count was 6-1 for the railroaders, who likewise got some pretty fair pitching from Norval Robson.

Robson, like Shell, gave up but three safe knocks, with better support behind him tipping the scales in his favor. Lone run off his slants came in the third inning when Fred Morie singled and went the rest of the way on Al Gibson's triple.

CNR got off to a two run lead in the first inning, a walk to St. John, Barnes' one-bagger and an error at second doing most of the damage.

Shell was in control thereafter until the sixth, when the enemy rattled away for four more runs. Barnes and Koral sparked the uprising with sharp singles. Game was called because of darkness after the sixth.

Waitkus Improved

CHICAGO, June 18 — (AP) — Eddie Waitkus, Philadelphia Phillies' star first baseman, yesterday underwent a minor operation to drive blood from a lung pierced when he was shot by a bobby-sox fan.

The 25-year-old athlete remained in a hospital operating room about 30 minutes while surgeons worked with a suction needle. Later the hospital said he was "breathing easier" and showing "marked improvement."

Doctors explained that the bullet, fired by Ruth Ann Steinhagen, 19-year-old typist who idolized Waitkus from afar, had lacerated the right lung and caused internal bleeding.

Whether Waitkus will be able to play ball again this season is uncertain. Dr. L. L. Braun, team physician for Chicago Cubs, said he was "quite certain" he will be back playing baseball eventually.

The hero-worshipping bobby-soxer who summoned the hailplayer to her hotel room and shot him with a .22-calibre rifle is in jail, unable to post $25,000 cash bail.

Golfing Dentist A Good Mudder

DETROIT, June 18—(AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff proved himself a pretty good mudder as he moved into a two-stroke lead yesterday at the halfway mark of the Motor City golf tournament.

The methodical Memphis dentist, unruffled by a steady rain that fell through most of his round, bagged five birdies as he shot a four-under-par 67.

It gave him a 133 total and a two-stroke lead over Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., and Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., who tied for second place at 135.

Millie McAuley Paces Mortons to 8-4 Win

Millie McAuley, one of the best female athletes ever to do her stuff in Edmonton, returned to action in the Senior Ladies' Fastball league last night after an absence of several years and promptly led Mortons to an 8-4 victory over South Side Athletics.

Wife of one-time New York Ranger-Edmonton Flyer netminder Ken McAuley, and sister of Grant Warwick of Boston Bruins, Mrs. McAuley chased half Mortons tallies across the plate with four hits, including a double, in five times up.

Shortstop Marty Rommelaere combined with Mrs. McAuley to provide what proved to be a winning margin in the first inning. With two runs already across the short patcher blasted out a three-run homer to centre field. Two more runs in the second frame and a single counter in the fifth completed Mortons' total.

Athletics put all their 'eggs' in one basket, scoring four times in the fourth inning after two were out.

Home runs by Thora Stewart, Isabel Whitley and Minnie Wilson featured Walk Rites' attack as the store-gals trounced Burns 11-4 in the second game of the night. A six run fifth inning highlighted the Walkie attack.

City Racquet-Wielders Vie For Tennis Laurels Today

Dr. Hal Richard, defending champion, Gordon McLaws, former Calgarian who holds the provincial singles title, Johnny Stott and Bob Cameron drew the 'seeded' positions in the men's singles draw of the annual City Tennis tournament that gets underway at Glenora club today.

All will see action at the week-end, with play scheduled to continue throughout Sunday.

In the ladies open singles division Mrs. Pat Timmerman, defending the crown she won last year, Lois Kindley, Cal Holmgren and Nancy Collinge were seeded one to four, respectively.

Opening matches today start at Glenora, Garneau and Civil Service clubs.

Volleys and half-volleys: Name of Collinge in the draw serves to bring on memories of provincial tournaments of 15-20 years back . . . In those days Marjorie Collinge, later Mrs. Marjorie Eustace, was Calgary and Alberta's premier feminine racquet wielder . . . No bigger than a minute Mrs. Eustace made up for lack of stature with a flaming competitive spirit and a useful assortment of strokes . . . Miss Collinge is a niece of Mrs. Eustace.

★ ★ ★

Andy (Sheria) Purcell and Johnny Stott are former men's singles titlists set for action . . . Purcell plans to confine himself strictly to the doubles events but the red-headed Stott will be taking dead aim at the singles championship being defended by his doubles partner, it so happens, Dr. Richard.

Of course Gordon McLaws generally is recognized as the man to beat for the single's title.

★ ★ ★

Ian McDonald, tournament secretary, can look back on more than 20 years of association with tennis in the city, both as a competitor and executive . . . With an extra-large entry list to cater for the popular McDonald faces a busy week . . . Bessie McAvoy, many-times ladies singles winner, will play only in the ladies and mixed doubles division.

Stott-Dr. Richard should be tough in the men's doubles.

Sundays draw follows:

Glenora—At 1:00 p.m.—MOS—Stott vs winner Wingwick-Howell; McIlveen vs Schreiter; McLaws vs Oliver. MOD vs Sale-Williams vs Cassels-Sinclair. Mrs. D — Elliot-Purcell vs Pritchard-Collinge; Cameron-Mignault vs Dickins-Linke.

Garneau —LOD—McDougall-Sherman vs McCune-Miller. Carr-Dowden vs Simpson-Darling. Mitchell—Copp vs Davies. Waite vs Wingland.

Civil Service—Purtiebin—R Forrester vs Docherty: LOS—E. Linke vs J. Finley, Mitchell — Winner Kushner-Blair vs winner Mangin-Greenfield.

Glenora—At 2:00 p.m. MOS—Winner McFarlane-Waite vs winner Tindell-Moss. LOS—Masters vs Lois Mc. OD—Winner Holmes-Holmes and McManus-McManus vs Sanuels-A. Darling, winner Sochetyn-Wilson and Grierson-Grierson vs Blair-Blair. Mitchell-Kinnear vs Dunsmore. Bulletin—Holmgren vs Collinge.

Garneau—Hualith—Mackie vs Kelly-Porter vs McMurray. MOS — Winner Bellamy-McPherson vs winner Kiver-Davies. LOS—Timmerman vs Simpson. Civil Service — Mitchell — Trott vs winner Winder-Thompson.

This draw for Sunday is incomplete. Competitors are responsible for finding out the times they are drawn. These will be available at the Glenora club on Saturday evening and Sunday morning.

SHEEHAN HURLS NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

First real candidate for local football Hall of Fame this season is Chuck Sheehan of the South Side Legion entry in the South Edmonton Intermediate Men's Fastball league. Sheehan filed his application last night as he set down Gasco 8-0 without giving up a hit or a base on balls while striking out six. Only Gasco runners to reach base arrived through four Legion errors.

As well, Sheehan chipped in with two of the eight blows that Legion collected, including a home run in the fifth inning.

'Hat Tigers Win

MEDICINE HAT, June 18.—(CP)—Medicine Hat Tigers of the Big Six Baseball league batted out an 18-hit attack against the Montana Hi-Five All-Stars to take a 16-4 victory.

Tom Powers, the Broadway star, is an author as well as an actor. He has had two novels published.

Robinson Tops 1st Base Poll

CHICAGO, June 18—(AP)—Eddie Robinson, who found a new lease on baseball life in switching from Cleveland to Washington, yesterday was far ahead in the American league first-base race of the All-Star poll.

As the United States balloting for the inter-league classic at Brooklyn July 12 neared the 185,000-vote mark, Robinson had collected 45,602 votes. That gave him a 10,718 margin over runner-up Ferris Fain of Philadelphia Athletics.

Biggest vote-getter still was outfielder Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox with 61,242.

'No News is Good News'—Currie

By Jim Algeo

Despite the fact that Calgary and Saskatoon have opened an all-out drive to bolster their ranks for the 1949-50 Western Canada Hockey league campaign, Flyer Coach Frank Currie maintained yesterday that "there's really not a lot of hockey news to give out."

To this the man on the street says: "Let's get cracking Flyers. Roy Heximer, Stan Maxwell and Jack Taggart, plucked Wednesday by Calgary from the defunct Lethbridge Maple Leafs, would have looked mighty good in Flyer livery. What's the matter with Edmonton's bidding power, anyway?"

And the fans who dunk their doughnuts in coffee shops along the main drag had more to say when it was learned that 'Wild Bill' Hunter, Saskatoon mentor, supposedly had put Jack Evans under lock and key yesterday.

A rugged individual, Evans gave WCHL forwards the shakes last season while serving on the Lethbridge defence. Again the man who pays the shot is asking how come Flyers didn't get in there and fight for the services of the burly youngster.

It is apparent even to the radio hockey (those fans who can't buy their way into the east-end ice palace) that Flyers are in dire need of some new faces. "A top-notch goalie, two bruising rearguards and a couple of speedy forwards would be just the thing," they say.

Flyers' management shouldn't let Calgary and Saskatoon swipe all the headlines.

* * *

"The Allan Cup or bust" appears to be the cry that's spreading out over the prairies from Saskatoon these days. And 'Wild Bill' Hunter isn't letting any grass grow under his feet to achieve that object. He already has signed at least three more players, other than Evans.

Signed, sealed and ready for fall delivery are Cy Rouse, with Spokane Flyers last campaign, Ken Barlow, a Regina junior, and Steve Gaber, who toiled for Louisville of the International league last season.

Macdonald Carey started his theatrical career as a member of a quartet that fetched $40 between inings of ball games. They received $5 a game.

Reds' Bartering Tactics Starting to Pay Dividends

NEW YORK, June 18—(CP)—This week's trades by the Cincinnati Reds are starting to pay dividends already.

Three discards from other National league teams—outfielders Harry Walker and Peanuts Lowrey, and catcher Walker Cooper—took a new lease on life yesterday and presented the Reds with a 7-2 victory over Boston Braves.

Between them, the trio got six of the Reds' 11 hits, batted in or scored five runs, and stole two bases. Walker and Lowrey, obtained from the Chicago Cubs Wednesday, each stole one base, and Cooper hit a first-inning three-run homer. The Reds got Cooper last Monday in a swap with New York Giants.

SAIN LOSES AGAIN

The efforts of Messrs. Walker, Lowrey and Cooper were enough to give young Howie Fox his fourth pitching victory and Send Johnny Sain down to his seventh defeat. Sain has won four.

Big Don Newcombe pulled Brooklyn Dodgers out of a minor slump, pitching them to a 2-1 win over Chicago Cubs. Newcombe twirled a six-hitter for his fourth straight mound triumph since joining the Dodgers from their Montreal farm.

Pittsburgh Pirates belted Clint Hartung from the box in a four-run first inning and went on to defeat the New York Giants 6-4. Tiny Bonham was effective in the clutches for the Pirates, allowing only seven hits, including Sid Gordon's 11th homer of the year in the eighth.

ROBERTS TO FORE

At St. Louis, the Cardinals went down 8-0 before brilliant five-hit pitching by Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils.

In the American league, the rapidly-rising Cleveland Indians snowed under the league-leading New York Yankees 10-4, whacking out four home runs in the process. Third baseman Ken Keltner, recently benched for weak hitting, hit two of the homers and knocked in four runs. Pitcher Bob Lemon and Larry Doby hit the others.

In the first game of a day-night doubleheader, Boston Red Sox edged Chicago White Sox 4-3. In the second game, Boston pounded out 15 hits, including three home runs, to defeat the White Sox 10-8.

Advancing Philadelphia Athletics took the measure of St. Louis Browns by a 6-5 count. The win may prove costly, as veteran second-baseman Pete Suder was carried off the field with a spike wound in the ninth inning.

Race Meeting Opens at 'Peg

WINNIPEG, June 18 — (CP) — Purses totalling $105,400 are on the line for the 14-day race meeting opening today at Winnipeg's Polo Park.

More than 350 thoroughbreds already are in the city after competing in Edmonton's 14-day meet which closed June 8.

Lee Williams of Edmonton, leading owner at the opening meet, has shipped a powerful string to Winnipeg under the direction of Earl Robertson who topped the trainer list at Edmonton by saddling five winners.

Heading Williams' stable is Air Cadet, winner of his last two starts. Other horses from his stable include Fair Heels, co-holder of the about three-furlong track record at Edmonton, and Franks Mistake, winner of the 1948 Alberta derby.

Texaco Plays Ball Not Soccer

Texaco Oilers proved last night why they have consistently led the Senior 'B' baseball league since the season opened: They don't kick the ball around.

Oilers whipped South Side Business Men 12-1 last evening but only managed to outhit the South Siders by a 6-5 margin. However, Texaco fielded faultlessly behind pitcher Stan Pruden while South Side committed six costly errors. And in the ball analysis these errors spelled the difference between the two teams.

The win boosted Oilers to a one-game lead over second place Runte's, while the faltering Business Men dropped a full four games off the pace in third position.

Texaco	121	032	0—12	6	0

Pruden and Embery; Kadatz, Joy (3), Boucher (7), and Schiewe.

Scotty's Triumph

Scotty's Garage defeated Calder 10-9 in a City Bridges baseball league game at Diamond park last night.

Flyers Stars To Montreal?

Possibility that Doug Anderson and Bud MacPherson of last season's Edmonton Flyers hockey team will play with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey league arose last night.

It all started when Frank Selke, general manager of the Habs, announced that he wanted to talk turkey with the young pucksters.

Selke is in town for talks with officials of Flyers and those of the Edmonton Athletic club. Montreal has working agreements with both organizations.

Canadians Call For action!

Canadians are voting CCF

Canadians know that they can depend on CCF National Leader M. J. Coldwell and CCF members of parliament to carry out the following program without fear, favour or stalling:

M. J. COLDWELL, CCF National Leader

1. IMMEDIATE LOW-COST LOW-RENTAL HOUSING

"The government's failure to build houses is a national disgrace. We will launch immediate large-scale housing construction. Housing subsidies will be paid to bring the cost of homes within reach of our lowest income group. Government financing will reduce interest rates. Priorities will ensure the necessary supplies."

2. IMMEDIATE NATIONAL HEALTH PROGRAM

"Canada lags far behind almost every other country in the western world . . . Health Services will be made available to all regardless of the size of their pocketbooks. People will be encouraged to seek early treatment. A vigorous program to build sound, healthy bodies for Canadians will pay untold dividends in the future."

3. IMMEDIATE MEASURES TO PROVIDE JOB SECURITY

"CCF economic planning will keep the wheels of industry turning so that no one willing and able to work will be out of a job. Private enterprise, complete and uncontrolled, has never yet succeeded in maintaining full employment for more than a few years at a time. The investment and production policies of the giant key industries so vital to the economic life and prosperity of the nation must be brought under public ownership."

4. IMMEDIATE STEPS TO PROVIDE FARM SECURITY

"If our foreign trade collapses, our farm economy collapses. Day by day the situation grows worse . . . the government seems to have no solution to prevent this drift to certain catastrophe. The CCF is not afraid of applying controls necessary to make our economy work. We shall negotiate long-term, bulk-purchase contracts for our exports . . . make bi-lateral trade agreements that our customers want . . . eliminate gambling and speculation."

5. IMMEDIATE AND COMPLETE SOCIAL SECURITY

"In a land of Canada's resources, no person should go without the basic necessities of life . . . A CCF government will inaugurate a comprehensive system of family security . . . The CCF will increase the old age pension to $50 per month payable at the age of 65 without a means test. Blind pensions will be increased to the same amount. Family allowances will be continued for children from 16 to 21 as they remain at school or college. There will be established a social security minimum below which no one in the country will be allowed to fall."

CCF = CO-OPERATIVE COMMONWEALTH FEDERATION

Only the CCF can and will do the job!

Douglas Currie Exhibits Champion Calf at Viking

VIKING, June 18—Viking Beef Calf club held its annual achievement day and fair with a large crowd in attendance. Douglas Currie exhibited the champion calf of the club, a Shorthorn steer weighing 1,020 lbs.

In second place was Gordon Maxwell's reserve champion, which was a Hereford calf weighting 795 lbs. Four other calves were placed in the special group by Judge J. L. Kerns, belonging to Eileen McLaren, Elfreda These, Garth Maxwell and Donald Maxwell.

Of the remaining calves, seven were placed in the choice group and eight in the good group.

Showmanship honors were captured by Edwin Klein, with Eileen McLaren second, Irwin Currie third and Arthur These fourth.

The calves were later taken to Holden and sold there. Douglas Currie's calf was awarded the reserve grand championship and was sold to the T. Eaton Co. Edmonton for 37c per pound. Gordon Stalker of Edmonton was auctioneer.

In the evening the members of the Viking club attended a banquet at Holden where Wm. Comisarow, president of the Viking Board of Trade presented a trophy to Doug Currie for exhibiting the champion calf and E. N. Stiles presented a syringe.

Gordon Stalker was awarded a sweater and shirt from the club for his interest in club work. N. A. Jonik, D.A., supervised the club show and sale and was chairman at the banquet.

CHILD'S LEG ARE BROKEN BY TRACTOR

BELLIS, June 18—Three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Klymok, had both legs broken when a tractor ran over them. Children were playing around the tractor, which apparently had been left in gear. One touched the starter and the tractor rolled over the little girl.

Wetaskiwin Band to Give Park Concert

WETASKIWIN, June 18—Wetaskiwin's Community Band is preparing for another open air concert, to be given Sunday afternoon, June 26 in the City park. The band has purchased some new instruments, which include a B.B. Sousaphone, (Beuscher), an E. Flat Sousaphone and a baritone. The latter instruments were made by Conn.

Many of the band members own their instruments, but the recent additions are the property of the band and ordinarily purchased new would have cost about $1,700.

Officers of the band elected at the annual meeting are Lloyd Wilson, president; Harry Lomnes, vice-president; Frank Thorn, secretary-treasurer; Bud Bidinger, librarian; conductor, H. Lomnes; assistant conductor, R. H. (Herb) Chandler.

There are now approximately 35 members in the organization.

During the summer the band expects to fill a number of out-of-town engagements, in addition to giving open air concerts here.

Alan Ladd started to work when he was eight. His job was sweeping out a candy store and getting it ready for the day's business. He started at 4 a.m.

Edson Starts School Wing

EDSON, June 18.—Work was begun this week on the north wing of the new Edson intermediate and high school. Present plans call for the immediate erection of six classrooms and science laboratory.

This will be followed by the addition of further classrooms, home economics and shop rooms, and a combined auditorium and gym. After completion of this building program, the present building will be used entirely for elementary work.

Alf Rakestl of the divisional building staff is in charge of construction. With lumber and other materials stockpiled and a large crew of carpenters assembled, it is hoped to have the north wing ready for use when school opens in the fall.

CAMROSE TAX RATE SET AT 47½ MILLS

World Too Slow; Street Cars Ditto

By Ken Liddell
Provincial News Editor

WETASKIWIN, June 18.—Sitting in on a CCF meeting here the other night we were reminded by something or other of an old Socialistic friend.

He was a little more left than present-day Canadian Socialists. At least if the masses had arisen in his time he wouldn't have been the first to call the cops. He was a Socialist long before most of the present crop was born.

He was the secretary-treasurer of a village which bordered a city and he had been there so long he had aged with the hall. Everybody liked him, few took him seriously.

He had two complaints with things. One was that the world was too slow in its thinking, and the city's street car system was no better.

He griped so much that sometimes one wondered whether his objective in life was to improve the world or the street car system. He had to take a street car into the city from his village, and the more he rode on them the more he griped.

He would go into the city twice weekly to address pulp-meetings on the market square. This was in days of the depression and he always had an audience. The unemployed were organized then, had a couple of representatives on the city council, and as they often spoke the press covered the meetings.

This friend of ours was always the last on the program. Reason for this was that he talked for so long. His theme was always the same. He wanted the people to arise and the street cars to get a move on.

The reporters never bothered to cover him. They'd put in a few quotes to please him, knowing his talk by heart, anyway. But one night he changed it. The reporter didn't hear about this and he quoted old Bill as saying what he'd been saying for years.

Our friend called the paper to complain that he hadn't said what the paper said he said. Then he added that if he hadn't said what he did say, he would have said what the paper said he said so he guessed it was okay. He was a good fellow.

He thought the reporters were about as slow as the street car system, anyway, or they wouldn't have been working for the capitalistic press. They'd have been out starving on their own.

★ ★ ★

Our friend had been at this sort of thing for years, even back in the slums of Liverpool, England, and he died in action.

He was stricken after one of those meetings on the market square.

He collapsed while standing on a street corner, waiting for a street car.

He had no family or relatives, but eventually somebody got around to checking his belongings. He had worked as village secretary for many years for a modest salary, and he had lived in a rent-free modest shack.

And when they cleaned up his affairs they found that he owned nothing. Throughout the years he had given all his money to needy families in the village and had said nothing about it.

Medals were given to John Tancony, Harry Macdonald, Mary Zaremba and Olga Melynchuk. These awards were sponsored by the Thorsby teachers sub-local of the Strawberry School Division.

A toast was next given by Bernadine Anderson to the members of the staff and the reply was by E. Haitz. Doreen Macrae gave the class history, followed by a musical number by a trio. Toast to the parents was proposed by Allan Borroughs, with a reply from Mrs. W. Perley. Joe Babiak gave a violin solo.

ADDRESS BY DR. VILLETT

Last part of the program was taken over by the guest speaker Dr. G. H. Villet, principal of the Alberta College, Edmonton. His topic was "The road to the stars". Dr. Villet's address was enjoyed by all and was a real inspiration to the students. He was introduced by J. Holston, chairman of the Divisional Board.

C. Pyrch, superintendent of the Division spoke in reply to Dr. Villet. With the singing of the national anthem the dancing got under way to the strains of Joe Babiak and his orchestra.

Crown Loses Race in Time, Skarlicki Case is Put Over

Supreme Court fought a losing battle against the clock yesterday afternoon. Triumphant time pushed the case of Alex Skarlicki of Edmonton ahead to July 4.

Skarlicki faces two counts of breaking and entering. Charged jointly with Gordon McChesney, Skarlicki had elected trial by jury. McChesney voted to go along with judge alone.

And therein lays the problem.

As morning session got underway yesterday, Mr. Justice J. Boyd McBride thought it unlikely the case against Skarlicki could be completed during the day—last day of Justice McBride's jurisdiction over assizes.

Crown prosecutor W. J. Shortreed was in favor of giving it a try.

Defence counsel W. G. K. Bloor wasn't so sure, but he consented.

As the crown pushed its case toward conclusion the clock on the wall ticked ominously on.

Time was too fast for justice as court adjournment neared.

Case was remanded until July 4, the date being selected to oblige a jury member who had planned a vacation jaunt to Vancouver.

STAMPS STICK COPS ON THIEF'S TRAIL

City police are taking a licking on the stamp case. They admit they're stuck.

So far they have been unable to apprehend the thief who stole a stamp vending machine out of the old bus depot earlier this week.

But the men who stamp out crime are determined the law shall be obeyed to the letter.

They are following up three or four scents.

Brettelle and Wagner To Back New Building

Veteran Edmonton building contractor N. G. Brettelle and real estate agent E. E. Wagner are two of the men behind the proposed $600,000 office building on Jasper Avenue.

In publicly revealing their interest in the six-story office and store building for the first time today, are other Edmonton associates in are other Edmonto associates in the venture whose names would not be divulged at this time.

OPTION GRANTED

Announcement of the new building was first made at last Monday's city council meeting when commissioners sought approval of council for sale of city-owned property on the south side of Jasper avenue, where the present Arcade arch is located.

Price fixed for a 40-foot frontage was $50,000.

The then-unnamed builders sought an option on the property until next regular council meeting on July 11. This was granted. Commissioner John Hodgson said at the time those behind the project did not wish their names made public until details of financing were completed.

DEAL ASSURED

Today Messrs. Brettelle and Wagner said they feel confident that financial arrangements will be completed before the next city council meeting and a start made on construction early in August.

The two businessmen confirmed earlier reports that insurance companies are putting up 60 percent of the capital for construction.

Preliminary plans for the building which will be of fully fireproofed steel-masonry materials have been drawn by the Edmonton firm of Stanley and Stanley, architects.

East wall of the building will be flush with Canadian Legion Jasper avenue offices. West wall will be against the Royal Trust building.

ARCADE RETAINED

The Arcade or arch leading from Jasper avenue to Memorial Hall and public library will be retained and the building will front on the arch, facing east.

It is planned to have three stores on the ground floor, facing the Arcade, with show windows on Jasper Avenue, Mr. Brettelle said.

There will be a full size basement which may be used for recreational purposes. Space will also be provided on the main floor for city comfort stations.

YEAR TO BUILD

Remaining five floors will be for offices.

Neither Brettelle nor Wagner could say definitely the types of businesses that would take office space. It seems quite likely that there will be several oil companies.

Construction will take at least one year.

CITY PIONEER

Brettelle has lived in Edmonton for 25 years and has been in the brick contracting business for most of that period. He now heads Brettelle Construction Co., Ltd.

Wagner is a young veteran of service with the RCAF who has been in the real estate business with his father since the war.

Disease Control For Seeds Urged

Ottawa Specialist Sees Need for Planned Program

An effective program designed to foster and control production of small seeded grasses and legumes should be initiated in Canada with the least possible delay.

This was a warning issued by Dr. T. M. Stevenson, Dominion agrostogist, in the final session of Canadian Seed Growers' Association here Friday.

Winding up the three-day 45th annual meeting, Dr. Stevenson stressed the importance of the proposed control project.

Some more important problems he cited in this regard were, isolation of cross polinated crops, seed setting in clover and alfalfa, seed cleaning and the fact very few growers specialize in production of small seeded grass and legume seeds.

LOSE ADVANTAGE

Present condition will exist, said Dr. Stevenson, until an effective program is implemented.

"Without it," he concluded, "plant breeders will be unable to use their limited stocks of foundation seed to best advantage, and seed industry and agriculture in general will suffer accordingly."

Stating that seed barley from prairies was carrying a heavy smut load, J. A. Farquharson, director of SGA, urged expansion of the disease control plan recently established by Saskatchewan branch of CSGA.

IS ALARMED

Alarmed by the seriousness of the situation, he called for a plan whereby registered seed growers could have an official sample of their seed laboratory tested.

Results of such a test would indicate treatment required to control or eliminate disease from his seed stocks.

Mr. Farquharson said such a plan, in conjunction with a well organized educational and publicity program, was the only practical approach to a disease control program.

Over 300 members of CSGA attended the farewell banquet before leaving for points across Canada.

Health Plans Are Subject Of Magazine

E. Duncan Millican, national commissioner of the Blue Cross Hospital Plans in Canada, commenting on the current Saturday Evening Post article entitled "Is Your Health Insured?" said today: "This article contains conclusive evidence in favor of the voluntary plans for health protection."

The Canadian Council of Blue Cross Plans, when asked for Canadian enrolment figures, disclosed that today well over two and a half million or one in five Canadians are enrolled in voluntary health plans, and that while this ratio is not quite as high as that of the United States, all indications show that within the current year Canadian participation in health protection may equal that of the Americans.

Despite increasing pressure in United States political circles for socialized medicine the Post article points out that in the arguments one important fact has been overlooked.

More than one-third of United States wage earners already own health protection, and despite official pessimism—the voluntary plans are still growing.

When Burt Lancaster joined the circus, the star had movies made of his full acrobatics act, and he intends to supplement this with other footage and make it a short subject for general theatrical release.

Unlicensed Stock Selling Proves Costly for B.C. Man

Sharp warning to unlicensed stock peddlars in Alberta was issued in police court here yesterday when Magistrate A. I. Miller fined a Vancouver man $200 and costs.

Lester A. Prosser, a West Coast mining man, appeared before the cadi on a charge of selling stock here without being registered under the provincial securities act.

Remanded from a June 25 hearing, Prosser appeared yesterday with defence council Sam Field.

ASKS HEAVY FINE

Following conviction of the accused, crown prosecutor John Hart called for a stiff fine or jail term, or both, as provided under the act.

"Accused's actions," he said, "in selling stock without a proper license, were fraudulent and in violation of our Security Act.

Defence council asked for a nominal fine.

Magistrate Millar refused Field's plea, saying this case must serve as a deterrent to prospective peddlers, particularly, he said, in these days when money is a little bit free.

"$200 and costs," said the cadi.

PLANS APPEAL

"The case will be appealed," said Field.

Prosser is said to be a shareholder in the LAP gold mine at Bridge River, B.C., and was said to have secured more than $3,000 from Albertans on promises to have money returned with profits.

Complaints from Prosser's customers led to his eventual arrest in the east, and return here to face charges.

IWA Regains Strike Fund

VANCOUVER, June 18.—(CP)—A court order yesterday restored $136,000 to the British Columbia District Council, International Woodworkers of America (CIO).

Chief Justice Wendell Farris in Supreme Court ordered the funds now held by the court receiver be paid back to the IWA, ruling out a claim of the rival leftist union, the Woodworkers Industrial Union.

The order ended an eight-month battle over the funds. They were seized by WIU officers last October when the former IWA executive broke away and formed the rival union. Most of the money had been marked for a strike fund.

Ernie Dalskog, former president of the IWA, served 21 days in jail for his refusal to disclose the whereabouts of the strike fund. He was released when the money was assigned to a court receiver.

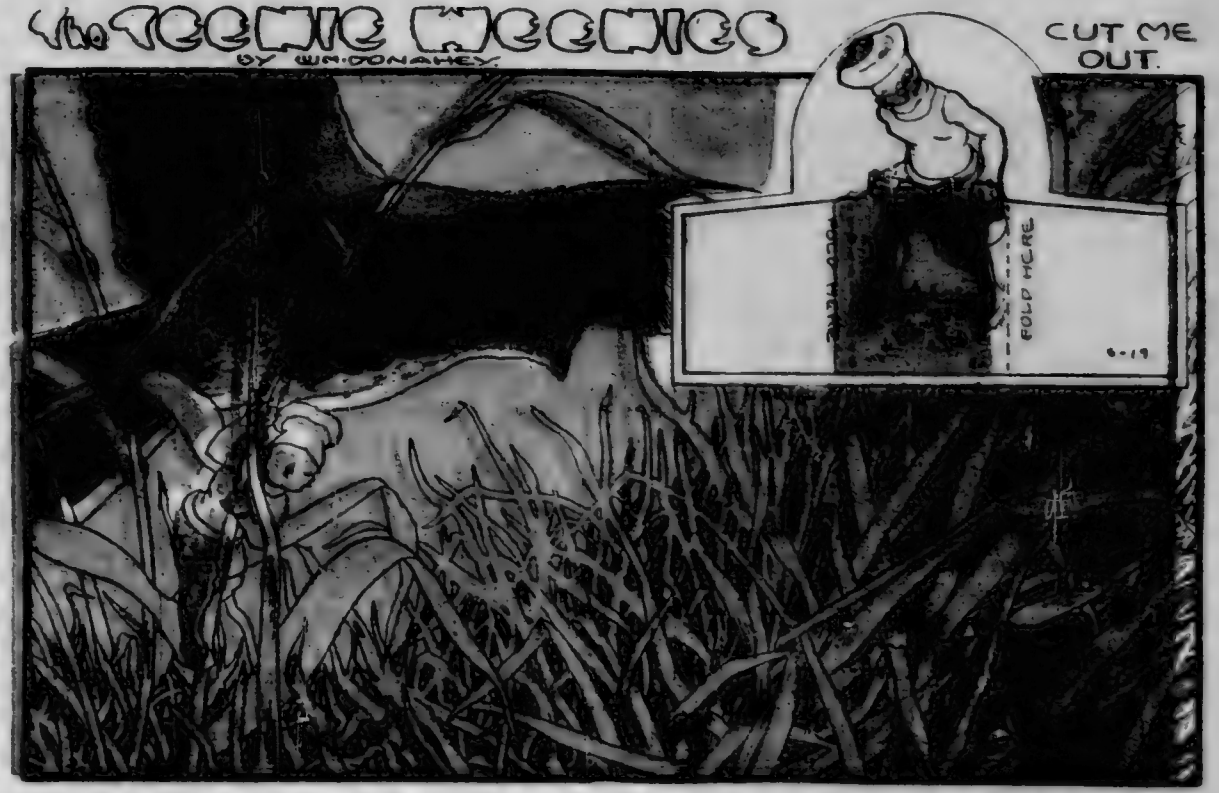
TERRIBLE GINKY



THE Teenie Weenies heard that Ginky had been prowling about birds' nests. He had been seen sneaking through the tall grass where several small birds had built their nests on the ground. Some eggs had been taken from the nests while the mothers were away, and Ginky had been seen nearby at the time.

It is a very serious matter to rob birds' nests and the Teenie Weenies were greatly worried. They couldn't prove that the mouse had robbed the nests, but it certainly looked mighty suspicious.

"It's hard to believe that Ginky would stoop so low as to rob a bird's nest," said the Lady of Fashion.

"That mouse is a bad one, I tell you," said the Old Soldier with a wooden leg. "He's been eating the eggs, no doubt. The ornery loafer is too lazy to work for his meals like an honest mouse."

The Teenie Weenies determined to watch Ginky. One morning the Teenie Weenie Cook caught the rascal right in the act of stealing eggs. The Cook had gone to a big field of tall grass near the Teenie Weenie village to gather certain grass seed which he uses in making his delicious frog meat loaves. He was slowly making his way through the tangled grass when he heard a sparrow chirping in great anger. The bird was flying just above the top of the grass and occasionally it would dive down as though it were fighting an enemy. The grass was too thick for the Cook to see more than a few inches and in order to get a better view he climbed the stem of a tall stalk of grass that towered above the surrounding jungle. When he had climbed up part way he plainly saw Ginky pushing his way through the tangle. The thief clutched a bird's egg in his paw and he was making a frantic effort to get out of the thick grass.

Finally the mouse managed to get out of the tangle and he started to run across a small clearing. That gave the bird a good chance to get at Ginky. She flew at him, beating him with her wings, and knocked the mouse head over heels. Before he could get to his feet, the bird gave him a good pecking. Ginky ran off squealing at the top of his voice. The Cook picked up the egg and started back toward the bird's nest. While the Teenie Weenie worked his way through the grass, the bird was telling him what she thought about that terrible Ginky. When the Cook put the egg down at last, the shell had not been broken and no doubt it hatched out a young bird in due time.

on the TOWN

By J. D.

Do persons defending themselves in city police court always get a fair trial? A veteran Edmonton court reporter told me he doesn't think they do.

The reporter who expressed this view is not a newspaper reporter but a stenographer who takes the shorthand reports of testimony.

He said he always feels sorry for the fellow who hasn't the money to engage a lawyer.

In theory the law doesn't discriminate against a person who elects to defend himself in court. But even our British justice doesn't seem to function quite so equitably for the fellow who has no counsel in city police court.

The average person knows next to nothing about the rules of evidence. A Magistrate faced with a heavy docket would be less than human if he didn't become a trifle annoyed at the tedious job of trying to keep a law-ignorant human on the straight path of judicial procedure.

AN IRONICAL TWIST

The less of a criminal a person is the more confusion he or she is certain to cause. The boys and girls who have been up several times are wised up.

A person defending himself has the right of cross-examination. An accused defending himself always makes an awful mess of this. After the court tells him he may question a witness the accused invariably starts telling a detailed story, none of which can be taken as evidence at that time. The witness box is the only place he can tell his story.

The magistrate cuts in and tries to get accused back on the right legal track but it doesn't do a bit of good. The accused will say he understands and then go right back telling his side of it.

This kind of things has to be stopped or it would go on all day. But the accused has not properly cross-examined the witness. That isn't any help when it comes around to the decision of the court either.

A little knowledge of the law can be a mighty dangerous and costly thing for an ordinary person.

Freight Rate Equality Sought by Chambers

Freight rates should be adjusted so as to give small communities a chance to develop, the Royal Commission on Transportation was told yesterday.

A submission from the Alberta Associated Chambers of Commerce and Agriculture suggested the bigger centres now get a better break on freight rates, with the result that the growth of smaller communities is retarded.

The Chamber brief was one of eight submitted to the commission at the concluding session of its Alberta sittings. The three-man body, inquiring into economic policy relating to all forms of transport under federal jurisdiction, moves from here to Victoria for sittings opening June 22.

RATES HIGHER

Yesterday's briefs—from various Chambers of Commerce, co-operatives and business firms—generally emphasized the idea that Alberta's freight tolls are higher than in other parts of the country and should be put on a par with those in the east.

A particular complaint in several submissions was against the railways' low "transcontinental" rates, which enable goods from the east to travel to Vancouver more cheaply than to Alberta points some 800 miles closer. These coast-to-coast rates were put into effect originally to meet water competition by way of the Panama Canal.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce submission declared that the freight-rate structure of the future —on which the commission is to make recommendations to the government—should be so constructed that there is "more equality of opportunity and advantage" as between small and large communities.

If Alberta communities are to grow as they should, the brief said, there must be equality in transportation costs.

"Reasonable freight rates in any part of Canada contribute greatly to its growth, and higher-than-average rates, or unequal ones, retard normal developments.

Specific recommendations of the Chambers included:

1. Rates within the province should be on a basis of complete uniformity for each community.

2. More uniform rates on a Canada-wide basis—the principle of "equalization" which has been urged before the commission throughout its western sittings.

3. Acceptance of the principle that rates for shorter hauls should not be greater than for longer ones. Higher charges for shorter hauls in some cases proved "discriminatory" against small communities.

Generally, said the Chambers' presentation, Alberta's freight tolls did not compare fairly with those in other provinces. They were higher than average, a fact which resulted in extra costs to the communities of this province.

Hospital Cost Up $90,000 For 5 Months

Cost of operation for Royal Alexandra Hospital increased $90,000 during five months ending in May compared to the same period last year.

Total expenditures for present year exceeds $600,000.

Hospital board committee point out that crowding of the hospital has sent operating costs soaring.

8,000 MORE PATIENTS

Figures released today disclose an increase of 8,000 patients over 1948. Adjusted adult in-patient per diem cost for May was $8.49. Average for the year to date is $8.66, compared to the previous year average of $8.12.

Government accounts for maternity and pensioners were higher, bringing total cash income to $530,000 for the five months. This leaves hospital operating deficit at $70,000, a decrease of $30,000 over 1948.

Mayor Harry D. Ainlay complimented the board on its low costs compared to other cities. The mayor referred to New Westminster, B.C., where he was charged $10.25 per day after suffering injuries from a roof fall.

Lutheran Relief Workers Urged To Continue Aid

HAMILTON, June 18.—(CP)—Canadian Lutheran World Relief has shipped overseas 258,466 pounds of used clothing, shoes, layettes and blankets, up to March 1, Rev. Clifton Monk of Winnipeg, yesterday told the Evangelical Lutheran Synod.

Of that amount, 32,910 pounds were shipped during the last winter. About 90,000 pounds of the clothing shipped so far had been gathered in eastern Canada.

Mr. Menk said the need for used clothing, shoes and layettes is as essential as ever. He asked the pastors to remind their congregations of this fact and urge them to continue their efforts.

City Ambulance service may operate from Royal Alexandra hospital instead of No. 2 Fire Hall in order that an interne can accompany the ambulance on all calls.

Calls will still have to be received through police station before a car will be sent out.

Mayor Harry D. Ainlay said last night the city would undertake any additional expenses. He was speaking to a meeting of the hospital board here.

Zoning, Auditorium Will Be Chief Items on Agenda

Unfinished business will be the business of city council at a special meeting here Monday night.

Majority of the items on the agenda were set over for consideration at the special meeting at last regular meeting of council Monday night when there was just a bare quorum of five aldermen and Mayor Harry D. Ainlay present.

Two matters that seem likely to cause lively discussion are the civic auditorium site and the rezoning of an area in the McKernan's Lake district for a community business and apartment residential project.

Recommendation of the parks committee for setting aside four city areas as motel and auto camp sites will be before council.

Changes in the Mayfair Golf Club lease, application of Aero Service Station for all-night service and extension of sewer and water to Tivoli theatre in West Jasper Place are other controversial matters slated for discussion.

Town planning recommendations for rezoning of areas for business plant sites are other items on the heavy agenda.

Gov't Will Pay Usual Bounties

Bounties will be paid by the provincial government this year on cougars and timber wolves killed in the province, according to an Alberta Gazette announcement.

Bounties of $15 will be paid for each cougar taken. Timber wolves and timber wolf pups taken between April 1 and Sept 30 will be worth a $15 bounty, and those taken from Oct. 1 to March 31 will bring $12.

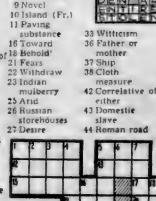
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Hot musicman Louis Jordan and his Tympany Five have been leading the swing parade in recent weeks with three very fine recording of what is usually referred to as the "jivy and gravy."

Death is an unpleasant subject but it is likewise considerably o n one of the new discs on which Jordan loudly calls for a "Lavender Coffin," accompanied by much whoop-de-do by the Tympany Five. Quite enjoyable and definitely rhythmical.

On the reverse is their version of the increasingly-popular "The Huckle Buck," which actually is better done by Frank Sinatra on Columbia or Tommy Dorsey on Victor.

Jordan's second recording is at a somewhat slower tempo, but the lyrics are since and very interesting. Louis does a duet with himthroated Ella Fitzgerald, and the context of their vocalizing implies very strongly things are much warmer on the inside than on the outside.

COLD OUTSIDE

For instance Miss Fitzgerald tells in persuasive Mr. Jordan she really must leave, but Mr. J. pleads "Just one drink more . . . Baby, It's Cold Outside." Evidently it is snowing outside, so Miss Fitzgerald decides to stay.

The third Jordan offering for the week comments philosophically, "Every Man to His Own Profession," and goes vegetarian on the other side with Cole Slaw.

Including four 10-inch discs the album has been recorded by Bing Crosby, Evelyn Knight, Danny Kaye, and Ella Fitzgerald.

CLASSICAL SIDE

RCA Victor has released an album (five 12-inch records) of Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E minor ("From The New World") played by Leopold Stokowski and his symphony orchestra.

Most enjoyable is the second volume of Folk Songs and Ballads sung by Susan Reed, with zither and Irish harp accompaniment.

Miss Reed sings Irish, English, Scottish and Southern U.S. mountain folk songs in this Victor Red Seal album (three 10-inch discs).

Miss Reed has a small voice, but it is well-handled and well-suited for her ballads. The songs she sings are Black Is The Color Of My True Love's Hair," "I'm Sad and I'm Lonely," "The Widow Malone," "Danny Boy," "Greensleeves," "Mother I Would Marry," "I Know My Love," "The Three Gulls," "Lord Randall."

In another Victor Red Seal album (four 10-inch discs) soprano Eleanor Steber sings Favorites From "The Firestone Hour," accompanied by Russ Case and orchestra.

FINE OLD SONGS

The album includes "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Smilin' Through," "If I Could Tell You," "Think On Me," "In The Gloaming," "Songs My Mother Taught Me," "Danny Boy," "In My Garden." Miss Steber has a very fine voice, but she seems to be out of her element with songs of this type—as are other opera singers who attempt them. It is something like using dynamite to blow a pebble off a beach.

Much better is her 12-inch single recording of "Micaela's Air," from the opera "Carmen," and "Dupuis Le Jour" (Ever Since The Day) from Charpentier's "Louise." On this disc she is accompanied by Walter Susskind and the Philharmonic Orchestra.

Vladimir Horowitz is at his best on a Victor recording of Prokofieff's "Toccata," Op. 11. On the reverse side are Debussy's "Serenade For The Doll" (from "The Children's Corner") and Poulenc's "Presto."

Latest recording of the First Piano Quartet is Mozart's "Rondo" (from the "Haffner" Serenade No. 7 in D) and Wagner's "Magic Fire Music" (from Die Walkure).

Philharmonic Leaders Give Group New Deal

By DICK SHERBANIUK

"The main object," said Harold Sagar, "is to be good—before we get any money from anybody."

That statement by Edmonton Philharmonic Society President Sagar summarized the enthusiasm and renewed determination evident wednesday night at annual meeting of the Philharmonic.

It was the first meeting by the Phil as an incorporated society. Despite disappointing news the Philharmonic went into the red this year, the fact it has been reorganized on a healthier basis filled everyone with optimism.

Mr. Sagar and his executive sparked reformation of the Society since most executive members were re-elected, it seems safe to prophecy the same progressive seat will be exhibited in future.

First, the Phil is determined all of next year's concerts will be of high calibre, even if fewer concerts are presented.

It appears careful planning will permit not only as many concerts as in previous years, but concerts of better quality.

Here are some of the reasons:

There will be a drive to obtain more and better musicians for the orchestra. This shouldn't be too difficult, for there is talent in this city which has not yet become active.

W. J. Hendra moved a committee be appointed to choose music for programs to ensure too difficult are not chosen, and to provide variety.

Business Manager Hector Wyman recommended a junior Philharmonic be formed to provide training and experience for musicians interested in orchestra work. It could provide a backlog of talent for the senior organization.

Attempts will be made to obtain the best guest artists possible.

A system of exchange conductors among Western Canadian orchestras may be inaugurated. W. Knight Wilson, of the Regina Symphony, and Jascha Galperin, conductor of the New Westminster-B.C. Symphony, have both indicated their interest.

One of "four experienced conductors" residing in Edmonton will be chosen as resident conductor shortly. The fact four experienced musicians have evinced sufficient interest to apply for the job certainly seems to indicate enthusiasm.

The slogan of the revived Philharmonic seems to be "hustle and bustle", with the prime object being good music.

As long as it can keep operating that way, next winter should be a banner year.

But one thing will dampen the enthusiasm of any group, and that's shortage of finances.

Apart from its subscription list, which will no doubt swell next fall, there is the matter of patrons.

Patronage is essential to ensure there will be enough money in the Philharmonic coffers so the group's attempts to provide better music won't be hampered.

From what I gather, some patrons make little more than a token donation to the Phil, yet don't hesitate to grab as many free seats as they can when the offer comes.

And there are several prominent and wealthy Edmonton businessmen who would blush a deep, deep red if their names were printed with the fact that their donations to the Phil were, say, $15 for the entire year.

Not that money isn't welcomed, but it seems $15 is precious little these days.

World-Wide VD Control Expected

ROME, June 18.—(AP)—Steps to halt the spread of venereal disease by intensive control work in port cities and along inland waterways yesterday received tentative approval of the World Health Organization Assembly. The plan, a part of WHO's 1950 over-all drive against venereal diseases, was approved by the program committee.

Second Celebrity Series Planned

Edmonton and Winnipeg Get Two Sets of Concerts

Musical surprise of the week was news Celebrity Concerts Canada, Ltd. will begin another celebrity series, to be called "Celebrity Variety Series."

Five concerts will be given during the 1949-50 season, apart from eight concerts scheduled for the Celebrity Series.

Headlining the new series is the 90-member Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Antal Dorati. One of the world's top ten symphonic ensembles, the Minneapolis orchestra, will play in Edmonton March 30.

There will be an afternoon matinee program for city young people.

FAMED TENOR

Lauritz Melchior, famed Metropolitan Opera tenor, will open the series on Saturday, Oct. 1.

Other entertainers will include George Formby and his London Music Hall Varieties, who will appear on Oct. 25 and 26.

Formby's company of top-flight English variety artists and musicians came direct from London's leading theatres. They toured last year in Australia and New Zealand.

Premier dancer with the famed Katherine Dunham troupe of Negro dancers, Talley Beatty and her company of dancers and musicians will present the fiery "Tropicana" on Nov. 8 and 9.

Popular radio and screen star, Victor Borge will visit Edmonton Dec. 14.

All programs but the Talley Beatty show will be presented in the Salmon Building of the Exhibition Grounds. The Beatty production of Tropicana will play in Westglen high school auditorium.

SECOND CITY

Edmonton and Winnipeg are only two Western Canada cities which have the two celebrity series. In Winnipeg, all tickets have been completely sold out already.

Celebrity Concerts (Canada) Ltd., which has been established in Edmonton for the past 16 years, has inaugurated the new Variety Series to accomodate patrons unable to obtain tickets for the regular series.

Tickets for the new series will go on sale Monday at the Celebrity Series offices in Heintzman's. About 2,000 season tickets will be sold. Sales are open to all comers. A system has been inaugurated whereby patrons can make a $2 down payment on their season tickets, and pay the remainder during the fall months when the series begins.

Celebrity Series office will remain open from Monday until July 1. It will be open again in the fall.

Edmonton Man Scores With Local History

BLANKETS AND BEADS. By James MacGregor. The Institute of Applied Art, Ltd., Edmonton.

The subtitle, "A History of the Saskatchewan River," is liable to mislead the prospective reader of this book.

Don't let it, because Mr. MacGregor's effort is not at all the dry-as-dust, factual account to word "history" might imply. It is the story of the prairie provinces, told in terms of the great river which is so important to the West, historically, economically, and geologically.

A lively and accurate account of the opening up of the West, from the discovery of the Saskatchewan to the beginning of modern settlement, it fills an important gap in existing Canadian history books.

A must for prairie people, "Blankets and Beads" should be particularly interesting to residents of Edmonton. Mr. MacGregor is the son of a pioneer family and a native Albertan and he describes scenes and people which are close to his heart.

The publisher's preface says: "The purpose of this book is to present the most colorful episodes of the past life along this river . . . for the enjoyment and information of those who live within sight or sound of its waters." It admirably fulfills this purpose.—G.Y.

First West Television Tryout Said Success

Western Canada has had its first television show broadcast.

According to those who saw it, the performance was a complete success without any Milton Berle, honey-voiced announcer, commercial announcement or high pressure ballyhoo.

The broadcast took place in Saskatoon, in the operating room of a city hospital and the receivers were ten blocks away where 400 doctors attending the 80th annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association had gathered.

On the screen, the medics got a scalpel-edge view of what was being done on the operating table—a close-up view that would acquaint doctors as quickly as possible with advances in surgery and medicine.

CLEAR PICTURE

Most doctors said they were surprised at the clear black and white picture. One said the television view was preferable to a motion picture of the same operation.

The performance in Saskatoon is similar to those being undertaken at other centres throughout the world, and provides one of the most constructive uses yet advanced for the medium. In some institutions, including Guys Hospital, London, the apparatus is being used for more than casual demonstrations. It is being installed to enable students to follow the most detailed processes.

It is expected to prove of immense value to students and visitors, and will give the hospital the distinction of being the first in the world to use television as a permanent teaching medium if successful.

DIFFERENT SCENE

Purposes far removed from those mentioned here for video were discussed this week at St. Andrew's-by-the-Sea where Canada's private radio broadcasters gathered to discuss their affairs.

If the broadcasters could have their way the level of Canada's television, when it comes would undoubtedly parallel closely the development in the U.S. where catering to the sponsor is the prime objective and the listener or viewer is regarded as a subject of less than mature adult mentality.

However, political yammerings to the contrary, this medium of mass communication in Canada will undoubtedly be developed by the dependable hands of people to whom the matter of financial return is not a prime consideration, but to whom the presenting of programs of a mature adult calibre is a definite objective.

CBC STATEMENT

Dr. Augustin Frigon, CBC general manager, in a recent statement on the subject said, "We would like to make the most of television so the Canadian public might benefit of all its possibilities. Television is not to be a toy or a simple billboard."

Course of development, Dr. Frigon said, will be to establish production centres first at Montreal and Toronto to be followed by expansion to different centres when physical networks through coaxial cables or short-wave links can be established.

MEDIAEVAL WEAPONS BANNED TOO

OSNABRUECK, Germany, June 18.—(Reuters)—A crossbow with a steel wire string, a sight, and a special gaffle exhibited for sale in a store here has been seized on military government orders as a "prohibited weapon."

Cross-bows had been revived in Germany as hunting weapons to circumvent the occupation ban on firearms.

A gaffle is a device to bend a cross-bow.

WOMEN of TODAY

Dolores Kimball

Happy Day for All Fathers Tomorrow

Women of today are busy making gala preparations for Father's Day tomorrow!

Tomorrow is the day the man of the house really does rule supreme. It's his day . . . Daddy Dear chooses the family menu, the leisure-hour pastimes, the guests . . . and everyone does his or her individual best to make it a completely pleasant day for this payer of bills, signer of report cards, mender of broken toys, fixer of faulty plumbing, dryer of dishes, driver of car, cutter of lawn, builder of fence . . .

Tomorrow should be a day of fun and frolic for father. Why don't you make him decide right this very minute just how he'd like to spend His Day.

Ask him if he'd like to go on a fishing trip after church . . . or a hike . . . or a picnic . . . or have a backyard barbecue supper . . . or have a backyard poker party . . . or even in the living room if he wants to.

Father of the family next door made out a list of his very favorite foods . . . and that's what they're having to eat tomorrow.

Mind you, the menu is certainly interesting. They'll be having sausages, buckwheat pancakes, maple syrup, coffee cake for breakfast; lobster salad, hot cheese muffins, fresh cherry cobbler for lunch; roast tenderloin, shoestring potatoes, cold slaw salad, bake-by-mother rolls and strawberry shortcake for dinner.

BACKYARD FUN FOR THE FAMILY INVOLVES BARBECUE PIT COOKERY

EVERY GENERATION of the family love to have informal suppers in the back garden and the Bradshaw family is no exception. Here Mrs. A. Bradshaw, left, is busy with skillet while wee widget Barbara Bradshaw and her mummy Mrs. Kenneth Bradshaw eagerly await the results of the fire 'n frying pan. The canine member of the Bradshaw family is just as interested as anyone in the whole proceedings. If he's a good doggie he may be flipped a tasty bit of something real soon.

FATHER WORKS WHILE THE FAMILY WATCHES

BACKYARD BOSSING is just as bad a disease with women as backseat driving. Mrs. Harold Fazackerly gives husband Harold the orders while he's watering the garden flowers. Daughter Marjorie, left, and Twoey the pup think the whole affair is a big laugh . . . especially Twoey.

Carnival Fun Enjoyed by Club Oldsters

Carnival fun was enjoyed by members of the Friendship Club recently at a party sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary to the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association.

Sounds of bingo were heard to echo throughout the hall as members competed in one line, four corners and full card competitions. Mrs. V. Thomas operated the number wheel. She was assisted by Mrs. A. G. Fairall, Mrs. G. Weeks and Mrs. G. Holland.

Convener of the event was Mrs. J. McGinnis. Refreshments were served following the games when Mrs. C. G. Freeman, president of the auxiliary, spoke to club members.

During the evening Helen Kent, club organizer, attended the party and mingled with the members.

FATHER PROVES SUPERIOR IN FAMILY GAME OF CROQUET

ONE, TWO, THREE shots and father Herbert E. Hamly is away to a head start when the family competes in a fast game of lawn croquet. Elder son Donald, second left, is skeptical about the prowess of the older generation. But Donna and Keith have all the confidence in the world that Father reigns supreme in the croquet game. Young neighbor visitor Terry Maunder watches earnestly with Mrs. Hamly.

Pre-Election Entertainment Whirl Keep Many Hostesses Busy as Bees

Pre-election whirl of social activity is taking Edmonton by storm.

Political minded hostesses are busy tea-partying in honor of candidates for the coming federal elections.

Women all over the city are sipping a cup of tea, munching a dainty sandwich and sizing up the potential members of parliament with the see-all, know-all, hear-all astuteness of the feminine mind.

A charming smile, an easy, gracious manner, a crisp white shirt and a pretty tie may make a lot of difference to the elections . . . women are still feminine aren't they?

Meantime it keeps hostesses busy holding teas, garden parties, strawberry socials, coffee parties, luncheon and dessert parties . . . all in the process of grinding the political axe.

AFTER DINNER READING-TIME IS FAMILY GET-TOGETHER TIME

TALES OF FAIRY PRINCESSES are music to the feminine ears of the feminine part of the Byrne family, while the masculine part prefer something with more dash, verve and adventure . . . like stories of the Lone Ranger or The Batman. Mrs. N. W. Byrne reads the story of The Snow Queen to Barbara, left, Eileen and Judy, but Donald and Norman are skeptical in spite of mighty men of the comic books.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Be Kind to Fathers Is Sunday's Theme

By Bea Thrifty

Tomorrow is Father's Big Day!

And we've been frantically shopping for that special something all week long.

Today I received this pathetic note from a down-trodden, bill-ridden, hen-pecked Daddy Darling:

Dear Bea,

You have influence with the womenfolk. And I'm kind of interested in this Father's Day business. There's a big, black, shiny Cadillac convertible that would please my aging heart; there's a royal blue collarless sport coat I've been afraid to buy; there's a whole photography dark room equipment set that would give meaning to my idle moments . . . and then there's the striped ties, the wilted shirts, the drip socks I'll probably draw for my Father's Day presents.

• • •

You know Bea, what I'd really be tempted with is a little bit of attention around the house. My wife spends all her time over the back-yard fence, cleaning up the neighborhood gossip; my daughter giggles with her current beau over the telephone; son is too pre-occupied with the comings and goings of the Green Hornet to acknowledge my presence . . . what is a poor father to do?

I hope that Sunday everyone will be sweet and kind to me . . . then I'll be happy about the socks 'n ties 'n stuff.

A FATHER.

• • •

Well! I never . . . I suppose some of us are guilty of ignoring the man of the house sometimes. Tomorrow let's show him how different things can be.

And I hope he likes the special present you bought for him.

One thing dear father will be happy about . . . the cherries have arrived.

They trickled in late yesterday and scads of them are about today, selling at prices ranging from 30c to 45c per pound.

From British Columbia, they'll continue to come in quantity for some time. Last year's opening price was 40c per pound . . . so that may be a good omen . . . it's hard to say.

• • •

More word on this bacon-up-heaval business and word from the wise in eastern Canada say even cooked ham has risen 35c per pound in Winnipeg and east. That gives a price of $1.30 per pound for the ham . . . Land o' Goshen . . . what a pretty pass things have come to.

• • •

Those tangy, tasty gooseberries are back down to a price of 15c per pound.

Have you served your family a gooseberry pie?

• • •

And another thing . . . noticed hot house tomatoes selling for 25c per pound. They're the teeny, rather tasteless variety. Personally I like my tomatoes fresh from the fields.

And the field variety are still going strong . . . with last shipments from Mexico being augmented by the early arrivals from the coast.

Do have a happy Father's Day fathers!

Very young girls can take the sun. But, if you are 30, or your skin is dry, better keep the face out of direct sun rays.

WHY GROW OLD

Oils in the Skin Lessen With Age

By Johsepine Lowman

Old Sol is good for our health. He supplies us with that vital vitamin D and is relaxing and healing. However, the old man with five in his eye will dry up your lovely skin this summer unless you are careful!

Suntanning is fun and it is healthful and a suntan is attractive looking too, with summer pastels, but only the very young can get away with the extremely drying effects of a lovely toasted shade.

The natural oils in the skin lessen with the years and the woman after 30 is wise if she protects herself from extreme tanning. She can wear a large hat or some kind of a sunshade when she works in her garden, walks or goes on the beach. She can take her swim late in the afternoon rather than at midday.

If you are past 30 and wish to acquire a suntan, expose your body but cover up your neck and face. This holds even when a woman is younger but has a very dry skin. In order to match legs and arms with face and neck you can use some of the suntan cosmetics which look quite real when cleverly applied.

Also, treat your skin to special oils or oily creams in order to counteract the drying effects of the summer sun. If you are subject to freckles, you will simply have to take your exercise late in the afternoon and wear sunshades unless you are willing to get a brand new crop this summer.

You yourself can best weigh the trouble involved in avoiding freckles against the fun you have acquiring them. They are easier to avoid than to banish, although they will fade out if given time and a bleaching cream.

Example is the strongest influence upon a child's character. Temporarily, any child may exhibit all kinds of undesirable conduct; but woven into the threads of his character will be the ineradicable pattern of what he has seen and heard and experienced from parents in the home.

Our leaflet No. 66 "Why Do Children Steal?" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Example Influences Child's Character

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

It's no misnomer to say that a girl is the "spittin' " image of her mother, or a boy of his father and this holds for more than just a physical resemblance. A parent's every gesture and inflection of voice may be faithfully copied by the child.

How can a parent expect her child to be kind to others when she, or he, is harsh and mean when the child displeases her? Kindness is the natural expression of a loving person and when she has this love she feels benevolent even toward his mistakes of conduct. If she is mean and punitive the child will imitate this behavior when he is with other children who are weaker or younger than himself.

Mothers bewail their children's use of profanity, blaming everything but the home influence for it. Children pick up unusual words which are used vehemently and in emotional ways. These words impress them more than the ordinary words used in ordinary situations. So, it doesn't take more than a few experiences of hearing profanity before the child is copying this in his own emotional experiences. In addition, because he finds she mother's reponse to his profanity exciting, he tends to repeat the words to arouse the response.

Robert Allen, 21 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Baker, of Mercoal, Alberta.

It is strange that parents always expect their children to be better than they are themselves. Because they are grownups they feel free to talk profanely, act rudely, be as cross and unreasonable as they choose to be. They have the privilege, unquestionably, but they have to count the cost.

While parents may seem to keep the child under control by harsh punishment, the daily influence of parents will show up in the child's behavior elsewhere, if not at home.

Example is the strongest influ-

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Teen-Agers Blind To Marriage Duties

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 15 years old and have been going steady for three and a half months with a boy who is 17.

We plan to be married on my 16th birthday, which will take place next spring, but Mother objects. She says I don't know enough about married life to enter into it.

However, we think we can make a success of it after we are happily married. My boy friend's mother is dead and he needs someone to love him.

Should we go on with our plans, or listen to my mother?

D. R.

ANSWER: Listen to your mother, for she is trying to save you from committing a folly that in all likelihood will wreck your whole life. No girl at your tender age is fit for marriage.

You don't know what you are going to be yourself when you are a grown woman, nor what kind of a husband you will want, nor how to handle any one of the million problems that a wife confronts every day.

Child-marriages are simply defying Fate and it is no wonder that so many of them end in the divorce courts. For it takes more stability of character, more knowledge of life, more patience and forbearance than any youngsters have to make a success of living together.

CHILD'S VIEW

You are thinking about marriage from the point of view of a little girl playing house—all good times and lollipops, and having a swanky wedding and getting presents and going off on a wedding tour.

But marriage isn't like that for a teen-ager. It is work and worry, and having to stay at home when your feet ache to dance, and having babies, and wrestling with grocery bills and cook stoves and crying over what your husband says about your cooking.

Believe me, daughter, there is nothing that is more sure to end in disaster than for two children to get married before they are fitted for it. Marriage is for grown-ups, not for kids.

BRIDGE

Counting Tricks Minimizes Losers

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

Mathematicians say you will never build the same bridge hand twice. Therefore, in bridge at least, the old saying, "There is nothing new under the sun," does not hold true. Every bridge hand is a new one.

Today I think I found something else that is new—a musical instrument called the Theremin. Mrs. Lucie Bigelow Rosen of New York recently made a recording with this instrument with Elliot Lawrence's band.

The theremin is electronic. Its tones are derived by movements of the hand close to the instrument. Mrs. Rosen tells me that it has a spread of five octaves, with the volume of an organ and the softness of the human voice.

Mrs. Rosen said that the point I keep harping at in my column, "Count your tricks," has made the game more enjoyable for her. The player failing to count his tricks might easily lose his contract on today's hand.

The opening lead of the five of spades is won by declarer with the queen, and a small spade led to the ace. Now, if he leads a club from dummy, hoping to find the ace in the East hand, he will lose three clubs and a diamond.

The correct play is to lead the five of hearts from dummy, and even though it is a singleton, take the finesse. When it holds, discard one of dummy's clubs on the ace of hearts, thus holding your losers to two clubs and a diamond. If the heart finesse fails, you still can try the club play.

Rosemarie Starko Pledges Vows With Harry Kurach

Carnations, peonies and gladioli in varied shades decorated St. Josephat's Cathedral for the late afternoon ceremony in which Rosemarie Starko became the bride of Harry Kurach.

Rev. Fr. S. Shewchuk and Rev. Fr. P. Paschuk performed the double-ring ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Starko of Edmonton and the son of Mrs. Pivarchuk of Chipman.

TRADITIONAL GOWN

Traditional gown of ivory satin was chosen by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice was patterned with seed pearls, and featured a net yoke. The tucked skirt fell gracefully to form a circular train.

A full length veil of illusion net was caught to the bride's head by a pearl-embroidered satin headdress and she carried a white prayer book ornamented with an orchid and satin streamers.

As her only jewelry she wore a strand of pearls and a gold wrist watch, gift of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids, Miss Sue Starko, Miss Nancy Klenisk and Miss Amby Tomiak were gowned in formal frocks of delicately contrasting mauve, yellow and apple green. They completed their ensembles with hats of gladioli and carried cluster bouquets of gladioli and fern.

Page boy was Larry Achtem, and the bridegroom was attended by Marvin Starko, Walter Melnyk, Mike Kurach and Al A. Starko.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Walter Maday, and during the signing of the register, Miss Olga Pinkowski sang "Ave Maria."

MOTHERS RECEIVE

Receiving the guests at Club Roosevelt following the ceremony, the bride's mother wore a navy printed silk dress with navy hat and corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Pivarchuk, mother of the bridegroom, who also received, chose a black silk dress with matching hat and yellow roses encorsage.

Pastel peonies graced the bride's table, which was centred with a three-tier cake.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Orest Demeo.

Following a honeymoon trip to Banff and Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. Kurach will make their home in Chipman.

For travelling the bride wore a grey gabardine suit with pink accessories.

Summer Floral Shades Used in Church Setting

Pastel shades of gladioli decorated Christ' Church of England last evening when Canon E. S. Ottley officiated at the marriage of Marguerite Henriette Feguenne and Harry Jack Childs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Feguenne of Edmonton and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. M. R. Childs of Reading, England.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding outfit a light grey suit with which she wore an off-the-face hat of white with grey trim. Her accessories were white and she had a corsage of red roses. For her only jewelry, she wore a pendant, gift of the bridegroom.

Norman Gill was best man and ushers were Victor Feguenne and William D. Kirkland.

Miss Dorothy Teape played the wedding music.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Feguenne wore a navy dress trimmed with red and white polka dot lacing. Her hat was a navy straw model and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the Seven Seas where pastel-colored sweet peas and white tapers flanked the three-tier wedding cake.

Dietitian Praises Tested Canned Goods

WINNIPEG, June 18.—(CP)—Lady, that string of canned goods just didn't grow on the shelves of your favorite store—a good deal of research, involving long hours and plenty of headaches, took place before they got that far.

And there's a chance a soft-spoken, smiling woman, now visiting Winnipeg, was responsible for some of those products.

She is Mrs. Carolyn K. Powell of New York, attending the 14th annual convention of the Canadian Dieting Association here.

All testing of new recipes and new containers, explains Mrs. Powell, is carried out from the point of the homemaker.

"We try to instill an appreciation of the proper use of canned foods."

She feels the educational program has gained ground.

"Canadian housewives are becoming more aware of the economy and convenience in using canned foods. They are also getting to know that the ingredients are specially grown for canning."

Mixed Drinking Ban Approved by WCTU

Governments Asked to Stop Advertising Alcoholic Beverage

Mixed drinking ban in the beer rooms of Edmonton and Calgary was approved during final session of the thirty-sixth annual convention of the Alberta Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union, held in Edmonton this week.

Members of the WCTU commended the action of the Liquor Control Board in refusing to extend mixed drinking privileges, and expressed a hope that the Board will continue to take this stand in the smaller towns and villages.

Ten other resolutions and recommendations were endorsed at the convention. Mrs. A. E. Cook was convener of the resolutions committee.

Closer co-operation was asked between church leaders and teachers in the presentation of the scientific facts concerning alcohol.

ADVERTISING VETOED

Delegates agreed to ask the provincial and federal governments to prohibit all advertising of alcoholic beverages.

It was also recommended that the WCTU continue to press for governmental action against the waste of the world's food, caused by manufacture of beverage alcohol. Strong protest was voiced against the reported policy of some farmers to grow no barley except the types suitable for malting.

Federal and provincial governments will be urged to take responsibility for expense incurred in the rehabilitation of alcoholics, and to pay for them from the profits of the sale of beverages.

Refusal to grant concessions for the sale of alcoholic beverages now being sought by the Legion, will be asked by the WCTU of the Liquor Control Board. Members also will request that beer canteens in army camps be abolished for the protection of young men enlisting in the services.

LONGER HOURS OBJECTED

Vigorous objection was voiced in the action of the LCB in adding two hours to the closing time for sale of in liquor stores. It was felt that additional buying would result in increased drunkenness.

The Attorney General's department will be asked to enforce the act regarding the sale of tobacco to minors.

BEER ROOM SUPERVISION

The WCTU will ask for closer supervision of the beer rooms in the matter of the sale of beer to minors, and suggest that proof of legal age be compulsory.

It was agreed to send a letter of commendation to Chief Callahan for the action taken by the Indians in their recent Council in Edmonton, when they voted not to accept the privilege of freedom to buy beverage alcohol.

The WCTU will continue to press for more scientific teaching regarding alcohol to the schools of the province.

Little Chief Has Many Ideas To Make Dad Happy Tomorrow

Dear Tawasis:

Little Chief has had his thinking cap on every day this week planning how boys and girls can make this Father's Day the best yet. He came to the conclusion Dads don't want fancy presents so much as they wanted to be remembered.

Little Chief decided this meant Dads want their boys and girls to be kind, considerate and polite. Father's Day doesn't mean you must spend every penny in your piggy bank on an elaborate present for Dad. There are many, many nicer ways to remember him tomorrow.

Maybe the lawn needs to be cut or the hedges trimmed. This is something Little Chief thinks he can do. He plans to get up bright and early tomorrow morning, just about the time the robins are playing and chirping.

Watering the garden is a big job these days but something boys and girls can easily do. It would even be fun to spray the water on the flowers and plants and then to let spray on the newly cut lawn. Don't you think your Dad would be proud as punch to wake up and find the gardening all done? Little Chief thinks it is a splendid idea.

But the list of helpful things you may do hasn't run out yet. Dad's shoes probably need brushing and if you want to tackle a big job, but one that will make him very happy, you could clean and polish the car. When you want to do something for somebody it isn't a chore at all. It's fun.

Fathers like to be remembered in other ways, too. If you are clever at drawing you could make him an extra special Father's Day card.

But maybe the girls think the suggested presents for Dad tomorrow are easier for boys to do than girls. Little Chief thought about this and decided girls can be helpful, too. It isn't easy to have breakfast in bed once in a long while and so girls could get up bright and early, hop into the kitchen, put on the coffee pot and begin preparations for breakfast.

And even if Dad doesn't want his breakfast right in bed he would be mighty happy to get up and find his own daughter had prepared it as her present for Father's. He'd like that.

Remembers, It is not how much money you spend, it is how thoughtful you are that counts. He'll be happy if you think up something yourself to do for him or give to him. And don't just be nice to him tomorrow. He does so many things for you, you should try to help him every day of the year and your Mother, too.

Sincerely,

Joan Walker

Club Mail

Application blanks for Tawasi Club membership kept the mailman on the go all this week. But letters about what old and new members are doing with their spare time were few and far between. Why not write a note about your hobbies or pets? It would be fun to see your letter in the paper.

Swimming, baseball and riding her bicycle are favorite sports of Margot Kuaz, 12027-91 street. Margot has fun working at her interesting hobbies which are shell craft and leather work in grade five at Delton school. She likes to color the Saturday Tawasi picture.

Both Margot and her friend Marjorie Crawford are Tawasi club members who have hobbies and favorite sports. Write soon about your pet and exciting times.

Listening to stories is interesting and fun for the Flesher twins. Six-year-old David and Dick Flesher, 10320 104 street, liked the Tawasi stories so much they persuaded their mother to write us a note and now they too have the smart yellow badges.

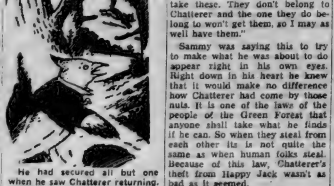
BEDTIME STORY

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Have you guessed why it was that Chatterer the Red Squirrel had no chance to gloat over the store of Beechnuts he had stolen from his cousin, Happy Jack the Grey Squirrel, and hidden in the old nest of Blacky the Crow? Have you guessed how it happened that, when he got there, all he found was one lonesome little nut? Chatterer didn't have to guess; he knew. One glance at the torn roof of his storehouse was enough for Chatterer. He knew there was just one person who could have done that. At once he flew into a terrible rage.

HE IS FURIOUS

"Sammy Jay did that! he shrieked. "He's a thief, a thief, a thief!



He had secured all but one when he saw Chatterer returning.

"He's a thief, a thief, a thief!" he shrieked. "He's a thief, a thief, a thief!

just a low-down miserable thief! He hasn't an honest feather on him! If ever I catch him, he'll be sorry! I'll--I'll--"

But what Chatterer meant to do if ever he caught Sammy Jay, no one will know but himself. You see he didn't finish that threat because he was so angry that he choked. He just couldn't get any more words out.

Chatterer was quite right in his surmises. You remember how Sammy had discovered that Chatterer was stealing Happy Jack's beechnuts and hiding them in that old nest. You remember how Sammy had waited to see the quarrel between Chatterer and Happy Jack. He had watched it a little while and then he remembered that nest. This was his opportunity. So while Chatterer and Happy Jack quarreled and fought until they were quite tired out, Sammy worked hard. It hadn't taken him long to tear open the roof of leaves and pine-needles and twigs that Chatterer had built over that old nest. Sammy's bright eyes had sparkled at sight of the heap of sweet, brown, little beechnuts that he had found inside.

A ROBBERY

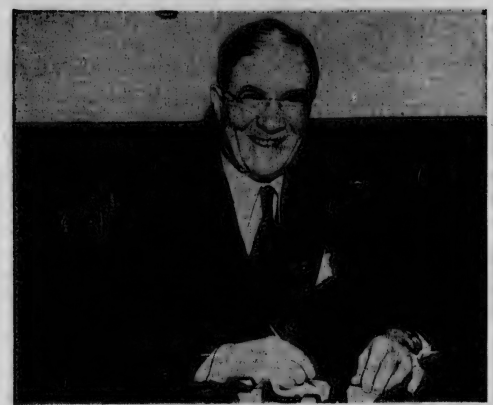
"They don't belong to Chatterer," said he to himself. "He stole every one of them and so he has no right to them. They belong to Happy Jack but Happy Jack never would find them in the wide world. It will serve Chatterer just right to lose them. Perhaps it will teach him a lesson. If he had come by them honestly it would be a very different matter, but he didn't. I don't consider that it will be stealing to take these. They don't belong to Chatterer and the one they do belong to won't get them, so I may as well have them."

Sammy was saying this to try to make what he was about to do appear right in his own eyes. Right down in his heart he knew that it would make no difference how Chatterer had come by those nuts. It is one of the laws of the people of the Green Forest that anyone shall take what he finds if he can. So when they steal from each other its is not quite the same as when human folks steal. Because of this law, Chatterer's theft from Happy Jack wasn't as bad as it seemed.

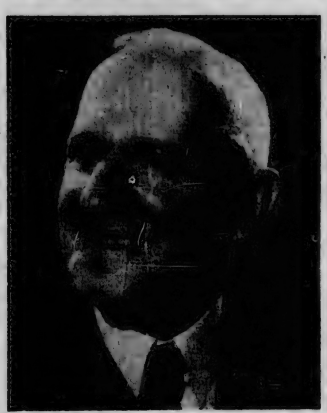
So Sammy went to work at once, for he had no desire to be caught at it. Back and forth he hurried silently. Some of those little brown beechnuts he hid in knot-holes in trees. Some he hid behind ragged pieces of bark that were partly torn from the trunks of trees. Some he hid in crotches where big limbs sprang out from the trunks of trees, and covered with leaves or pine-needles. He hid them in all sorts of places, for Sammy has many hiding places. He had secured all but one when he saw Chatterer returning and wisely flew away, chuckling as he flew. And this is why Chatterer had no chance to gloat over his ill-gotten gains.

Lightning causes about 20 per cent of forest fires.

WESTERN SUPPLIES LIMITED Celebrates Fortieth Anniversary



FIRST WORLD WAR VETERAN, Harry B. Armstrong joined the staff of Western Supplies Limited in 1928 as a salesman. Efficient, conscientious service won him the vice-president's chair a few years later.



MENTOR OF WESTERN SUPPLIES' progress during nearly half of its 40 years of service in Edmonton, Thornton A. Graham joined the staff as a bookkeeper in 1910 and was elected president of the firm in 1920.

PRESIDENT'S SON, trained in the business before and after his wartime service as Navy lieutenant on convoy duty, William A. Graham is a director of Western Supplies Limited.

When we were very young

Edmonton's first street cars—both of them—rumbled along over the 12 miles of track which comprise the entire system. It was 1909; there was no high level bridge, and the wholesale warehouse district west of 104th street was little more than a group of vacant lots.

Several Edmonton men engaged in plumbing and heating contracting—among them Charles R. Frost of Edmonton and G. F. McKnight of Wetaskiwin, (retired), John A. Lockerbie, George Purdy and Andrew Lee (deceased), conceived the idea of forming a local wholesale plumbing and supply business instead of purchasing their needs from Winnipeg and Eastern Canada.

Property was leased on 108 Street and 103 Avenue, at a cost of $40 a month for the one-storey frame building and the land on which it stood, and Western Supplies Limited was formed.

We had three employes then. A year later another was added to the staff—Thornton A. Graham, who joined the firm as bookkeeper and who is now president.

One of our first big jobs was the installation of all plumbing and heating equipment at the legislative building. Another was equipping of many of the University of Alberta buildings.

By 1914 we had purchased the site of the building, and erected a two-storey office and warehouse. An additional storey was added in 1928, and in 1934, we were called upon for another big job, the installation of the entire gas system at the town of Lloydminster.

Meanwhile, we were growing up. Subsidiary businesses to handle similar lines were opened at Winnipeg in 1936 under the name of Western Supplies (Manitoba) Ltd., and at Saskatoon in 1940 under the name of Western Supplies (Sask.) Ltd. The firm of Bell and Morris in Calgary was purchased in 1943, and a new warehouse was built in Calgary in 1948.

If this picture of Western Supplies' staff had been taken on the first instead of the 40th anniversary it would have included only three persons. Here, the present staff of 30 pose in the new office building. Flowers indicate congratulatory messages from leading manufacturers of plumbing, heating and air conditioning supplies handled by the firm.

Portrait of business today

Edmonton's post-war boom and Alberta's thriving development almost literally pushed Western Supplies into their new office building, constructed by A. V. Carlson, Ltd., of Edmonton. To meet expanding business needs, additional property adjacent to our former building was purchased, and a completely modern office building was erected.

It opened this week, staffed by 30 employes, and equipped to give more efficient and speedier service than ever to our increasing number of customers.

Because plumbing, heating and air conditioning supplies are our stock-in-trade, we were able to make the new building an ideal working place. The 70 by 40 foot office is air conditioned, indirectly lighted, and completely sound proofed. Rubber tiling is used on the floors, and windows—one is 30 feet wide—are protected from daytime sun glare by an overhanging canopy. Coffee rooms, and tiled rest rooms are provided for the staff.

A full sized basement supplies adequate storage space, and within a few weeks, renovation of our old building to fit it for a warehouse and display centre will begin.

More than ever today we are in a position to supply equipment for heating, plumbing and air conditioning contracts throughout all of central and northern Alberta. Complete stocks of equipment used in oil water and gas wells are also available at Western Supplies new building.

Working in close touch with Western Supplies branches in Western Canada, we are assured of being able to obtain adequate supplies of all types of equipment for our customers.

Don't think we're going to stop where we are now. Our development from 1909 to 1949 has been correlated to the progress of the city and of the province. As Edmonton grows, as Alberta grows, Western Supplies Limited will grow.

Battle for Food Booms British Country Fairs

LONDON, June 18.—(CP)—Britain's battle to produce more food has brought boom times to home agriculture—and a great popular lift to country fairs.

All manner of people flocked to a show at Ashton Park near Bristol to see in the flesh the animals that hold promise a bigger meat ration or more plentiful supplies of milk, butter and cheese.

There were land owners, farmers, market gardeners and the growing community of those who have acquired an acre or two and have gone into food production in a small way—and plain country dwellers who traditionally pay a call when the fair is on.

PLENTY OF BEEF

They watched herdsmen parade around the ring the thick-set beef animals, the 11 breeds of graceful dairy cattle and the scrubbed bacon hogs. They looked over the 15 breeds of sheep and plodded through the farm layout where the agriculture ministry is demonstrating how to grow better grass.

They watched steckman Sidney Downes groom his two-ton Hereford bull, Free Town Bystander, prior to leading him into the judging ring.

BEAVER COPS

Guernseys, the "golden butter" breed, vied with Jerseys and Ayrshires in dairy cattle classes.

Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook copped a third prize with an Ayrshire heifer.

There were goats in the show too. Their milk is used for cheese as well as for cheese and for medicinal purposes.

CIDER SAMPLERS

At the cider pavilion the crowds sampled the best products of the west country's presses while outside young farmhands demonstrated a gasoline-operated sheep-shearing machine.

Then an old-time shepherd wagered one of the youngsters that with his hand shears he would do a better job than the mechanical clippers. They went to it. Both had the fleece off in the same time—eight minutes.

Armed Thugs Rob Hotel

CALGARY, June 18.—(CP)—Two revolver carrying holdup men held up the Cecil Hotel on Third Street East in downtown Calgary early today and escaped with $25 in cash.

He said they missed "several hundred dollars" in an adjoining room. The large sum missed by the bandits consisted of the night's beer parlor take and money to meet employes wages due today.

Economic Crisis Worries Britain

Cripps Holds Secret Meeting To Give Editors Bad News

LONDON, June 18.—(UP)—Britain seems to be heading into an economic crisis and the trend has the government and lots of other people plenty worried.

Britain's export trade, lifeblood of the nation, is dropping off dangerously. Its gold reserves are dwindling. The stock market has gone into a serious slump. Labor is restless.

The worsening situation reminds many of Grover Cleveland's "silent panic" which stole upon the United States without warning in 1893.

DOLLAR SCARCITY ENTERS

Nobody knows from what direction the next blow will come, or what form it will take. But there is a general feeling that a scarcity of dollars will have something to do with it.

The Labor government already has betrayed its mounting concern over the country's plight. Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, boss of the nation's economy, summoned the editors of Britain's principal newspapers to a secret meeting in his office recently and gave them the bad news.

He told them that Britain is losing a great deal of its gold reserves and very shortly will be "on the spot." There also apparently was talk, back and forth, about whether sterling would have to be devalued.

RESPITE BRIEF

Cripps, without flatly rejecting such action, made it plain that he believed devaluation of sterling would furnish only short-lived relief. The pound sterling now is worth $4.03 compared with $5.03 prior to September, 1936.

This meeting with the editors came soon after publication of April trade returns. These showed a big slump in exports, which plunged to the lowest level for any month since last September.

Volume of trade in April was only 40 per cent above monthly average for 1938. By contrast, exports during first quarter of the year ran at 62 per cent above previous average.

MAY FIGURES WAITED

If May has shown no improvement, that would explain the alarming loss of gold to which Cripps referred. If exports and Marshall Aid together do not pay for imports which Britain needs to live, then the government has to dip into its gold reserves for the balance.

On the stock exchange, market values of most leading industrials have penetrated lowest levels touched last year, in July. The financial editor of the Daily Mail and Evening News reported expert opinion that the fall in aggregate sterling value of turnover on the stock exchange has been more severe than it was in the slumps of 1920 and 1930.

Many stock brokers, he said, are doing so little business they cannot pay rent without drawing on their capital. He told of one broker who gave up his office altogether. He is on the London Stock Exchange during the day and does his office work at home nights.

Unrest among railway employes and numerous strikes against discharge of workers in other industries points up the uneasiness among labor.

It seems likely that Britain's crisis has something to do with a general levelling off in production throughout the world, as reported by the United Nations department of economic affairs.

But whatever the cause, it seems to baffle the Labor government. It only cries, "hold everything!" to a tired and discouraged public. If the crisis gets worse, the main burden will fall on that same public through drastic cuts in imports and rationing of consumers' goods.

Twin Babies Births Span 47 Hours

NAVAN, Ont., June 18.—(CP)—Twin babies were born 47 hours apart to Mrs. Lucien Cleroux, Dr. W. C. Tweddie of nearby Rockland said tonight.

He said both the babies and the young mother were in excellent condition.

Mrs. Cleroux gave birth to a seven-pound boy at 6:30 p.m. last night—exactly 47 hours after the birth of a six-pound girl.

Dr. Tweddie said it was the first case of its kind he had experienced in 29 years of practice.

He delivered the babies in the farm home of Mr. Cleroux, 10 miles east of Ottawa.

He was called to the home Wednesday and delivered the baby girl around 7:30 p.m. The second baby was not delivered until last night.

Cash, Clothes, Radio Stolen

Police are investigating three cases of theft reported in Edmonton yesterday, involving $60, a radio and some clothing.

Articles of clothing have been missing over a period of time from Snowflake Laundry, 104 avenue and 98 street, police said today.

Missing to date are two blankets, one woman's suit, one shortie coat and three men's three-piece suits.

Edith Evans, 10344 106 street, reported her Rogers combination mantel model radio was taken from her room last night while she was visiting on the other floor.

CIRCUS LOSS

She said she had some home and then left the room for a few minutes. When she returned she found the window broken and the radio gone. Police said they did not think the thief had been able to enter the window after breaking it, but came through the door of the room instead.

R. J. Crawford, 10811 74 avenue told police that his wallet containing $60 and personal papers had been taken from his trousers pocket last night while he was attending the circus.

Opera Star Sued By Video Songstress

NEW YORK, June 18.—(AP)—Catherine Mastice yesterday asked $100,000 for remarks made about her television opera singing by blonde Dorothy Kirsten, Metropolitan Opera star. Miss Mastice appeared on Milton Berle's television show May 24.

Her appearance brought an angry outburst from Miss Kirsten who took the skit to be a burlesque of her own considerable singing talents.

5,000 Leave Homes In Australia Flood

SYDNEY, June 18.—(Reuters)—Five thousand families in the Newcastle area of New South Wales today fled their homes when the Hunter River, swollen by torrential rains, burst its banks. Three men and one girl were reported drowned.

Raging Forest Fires Threaten B.C. Timber

VANCOUVER, June 18.—(CP)—A raging fire, still out of control, has destroyed, or damaged six million board feet or timber at Lamb Company logging camp, Seechelt Inlet.

Flames spread rapidly yesterday through the area, 40 miles northwest of Vancouver. Already 170 acres of newly-felled timber and bucked timber are affected, with the flames moving to green timber.

Forestry officials expressed fears last night that renewed winds may send it rushing into virgin timber.

Hopes are high, however, that with an even break in the weather the 70-odd firefighters will have the blaze under control within 24 hours.

Six other fires are reported in Vancouver forest district, including a Parksville fire extinguished by the suppression crew there. All are under control.

Elsewhere 13 fires are burning in Fort George forest district, 500 miles north of Vancouver.

Nine fires are reported in Kamloops area, and two in Nelson district.

Experts Launch Plan To Boost British Exports

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(AP)—Britain's trade consuls have agreed on a program for helping British manufacturers boost their sagging exports to the United States.

Their plan was drawn up at a week-long conference with British government trade experts and embassy officials. The meeting ended yesterday.

The consuls will be stationed in San Francisco, Chicago, New Orleans and New York to keep a continuous check on economic trends in their regions.

Each month they will submit a detailed report on market conditions to assist the newly-created dollar export board in its campaign to step up shipments to the United States.

As part of their job, they will advise British companies on advertising media and techniques, so British concerns can get the most for their money in advertising British wares in the United States.

OIL

Redwater Well Rate 2,880 bb.

By Don Flach

Acidization of PASC Redwater No. 2 has boosted its potential to the biggest in the Redwater field. The well, second to be completed by the team of Pacific, Atlantic, Sunray and Calvan Oil companies on their three-quarter section spread was bottomed at 3,252 feet and flowed at a rate of 2,160 barrels daily before acid treatment. The oil was accompanied by a gas flow of 1,000,000 cubic feet daily.

After treatment with 5,000 gallons of acid the flow was boosted on lsd 16-3-22W4 and is one-half mile south of the first well completed which had a flush flow of 70 barrels hourly.

No. 3 well, located midway between the two producers on lsd 1-10-58-22W4 is expected to be swabbed into production today.

Property on which the wells are being drilled was acquired by the team early in May at a cost of $353,000.

All Export Wheat On Same Level

WINNIPEG, June 18.—(CP)—Class two wheat, for export to countries other than the United Kingdom, was placed at $2 by the Canadian Wheat Board today.

This was a reduction of five cents from Thursday's price for No. 1 northern, basis Fort William, and put the class two open export price at the same level as the price of Canadian wheat to Britain under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement and to domestic consumers.

It was the first time in the history of the agreement that Canada's export wheat price was not at a premium over the price of what sold to Britain.

ECA Authorizes British Purchase

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(CP)—The Economic Co-operation Administration yesterday authorized Britain to buy $5,340,000 worth of Canadian pulp and paper.

One-half is for delivery during the third quarter of 1949, the rest during the last quarter.

The Marshal Plan Agency also authorized Turkey to buy $300,000 worth of Canadian agricultural equipment and approved a French request for Canadian construction equipment, machine tools and motor vehicles worth $80,000.

Total ECA allocations today amounted to $13,820,000, but $12,968,000 in previous authorizations was cancelled.

Livestock

EDMONTON, June 18.—Total receipts for this week: Cattle 1,686, calves 481, hogs 1,968, sheep 48.

Trading on the Edmonton cattle market for the past week opened draggy, and values have been progressively lower for the entire week. Local packer buyers continue to be bearish even on today's quotations which are 1.00 to 2.00 per cwt. off for good to choice grain fed steers and heifers, and 2.50 to 3.00 down on butcher cows. Grassers are being discounted a further 1.00 to 2.00 per cwt., depending on quality. All this is the direct result of an influx to local markets of common to plain cattle due to adverse pasture conditions. Other Canadian markets, on which local salesmen rely for buying order outlets, have lost their usefulness in this respect.

Stockers and feeders were in poor demand and were about 1.00 lower, good feeder steers 16.00-17.00, good stocker steers 15.00-16.00, plain 13.00-15.00. Stock heifers 13.00-15.00, and stock cows 11.00-13.00.

Veal calves were slightly easier under more liberal receipts. Good to choice lightweights 20.00-22.00, heavy calves 16.00-20.00, common all weights 11.00-16.00.

Hogs were higher at the opening with an advance of 1.00 per cwt., grade A for shipment 32.50, grade A at local plants 30.75, sows liveweight on yards 18.50, stags liveweight on yards 13.50, feeder hogs 22.00-27.00.

There were insufficient sheep to make a market. A few feedlot lambs sold at 24.00, an odd small lot of spring lambs brought 28.00. Shearlings were quoted up to 20.00, and yearlings 10.00-12.00. Ewes 4.00-8.00.

Following are the quotations:

Choice fed calves	10.00 to 20.00
Choice steers	19.00 to 20.00
Good steers	18.00 to 19.00
Medium steers	17.00 to 18.00
Common steers	16.00 to 17.00
Choice heifers	18.00 to 19.00
Good heifers	17.00 to 18.00
Medium heifers	16.00 to 17.00
Common heifers	14.00 to 14.50
Good light cows	13.50 to 14.00
Good heavy cows	13.00 to 13.50
Medium cows	12.00 to 13.00
Common cows	10.00 to 11.30
Canners and cutters	8.00 to 10.00
Bulls	13.00 to 17.00

Stocks Recover Most of Losses

AP Index Falls .5 in Week; Canadian Markets Ape N.Y.

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP)—Stock markets were pounded downward early this week and then bounced up in mid-week to recover almost all their losses. Generally prices showed a loss at yesterday's close from the previous Friday, the fourth week of declines.

The stock market hit the front page on Monday when resistance disappeared in the face of steady selling and the price level at New York declined to the lowest point in 4½ years.

Passing of the lows of 1946 in mid-day brought on increased selling.

In recent sessions, traders have been wary of the three-year low and many have predicted there would be support when the market came near the low point. However, support was practically non-existent.

Demand increased slightly Tuesday on Wall Street and the decline was checked. A recovery movement rolled underway Wednesday as the market chalked up one of its best advances of the year.

Prices crawled into a shell Thursday, and yesterday the market resumed its narrow trading rut. The Associated Press 60-stock average closed yesterday at 58.7, a loss of .5 from last Friday.

Canadian markets faithfully followed the New York trend.

ICC Claims World Able to Keep Itself

QUEBEC, June 18.—(CP)—If one may judge from their decisions and discussions, the world's business men feel that the world is in a position to do very well for itself.

But if it is to do so, it must act courageously, wisely and fast.

This view comes out of the sessions in Quebec this week of the International Chamber of Commerce attended by more than 700 people from 27 countries.

Particularly, they think western Europe must be able to stand on its own feet by the time the European Recovery Program runs out in 1952-53. And they don't think Europe at this date is making enough progress towards a common economy.

Said one resolution:

"The ICC is firmly convinced that the impoverishment of Europe is in large measure due to its division. While appreciating that economic unification in Europe cannot be brought about hastily, the ICC is bound to express its disappointment at the comparatively modest advances made along this road since ERP was launched."

At present ERP is enabling European countries to buy goods. The manner of its operation does not result in very much building up of Europe's dollar resources.

So, apart from what Europe does in effecting closer economic union, there will be pressure for a change in the manner in which at least some part of ERP money will be made available.

ICC delegates feel trade is being hampered by such things as exchange controls and import quotas. They feel that some of them are hanging on too long.

Wheat Paces Chicago Gains

CHICAGO, June 18.—(AP)—Grains today moved upward in fairly brisk dealings toward the close on the Board of Trade. Early easiness in wheat and a ragged appearance in corn and oats was followed by a show of strength in all pits.

Wheat led the advance, gaining more than a cent at times over the previous close. Buying following a financial service dispatch quoting an agricultural department source as denying recent trade rumors that the 90-day temporary storage plan will be limited to certain states.

Also influencing the wheat price rise was a gain of two cents a bushel in the trading basis for cash wheat at Kansas City and a report the Commodity Credit Corporation there might take a little cash wheat for immediate delivery at Gulf of Mexico ports. The CCC has not bought any wheat for weeks.

Wheat closed ¼-1¼ higher, corn was ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, oats were ½-⅞ higher, rye was ¾ higher, soybeans were ½-¾ higher, and lard was 5 cents lower to 2 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Cash wheat: None; corn No. 1 yellow 1.38; oats, No. 1 heavy mixed 73-73½; barley malting 1.08-1.42 nominal.

Carloadings Drop Slightly

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP)—Carloadings decreased slightly during the week ended June 11 to 72,736 cars from 73,970 cars for the previous week and 75,229 cars for the corresponding week last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Increases over the 1948 loadings were recorded in grain, building materials and merchandise. Decreases were shown in livestock, coal, pulpwood, woodpulp and paper.

Glendon Opens New Creamery

GLENDON, June 18—Glendon creamery was officially opened recently and speakers included several from Edmonton. Farmers were invited to view the creamery in operation.

Visitors later were guests of the Board of Trade at a luncheon.

Cattle Prices Drop Sharply

OTTAWA, June 18.—(CP)—Cattle prices dropped this week under a sharply-curtailed demand, the agriculture department reported yesterday in its weekly livestock review.

The review blamed hot weather and resistance to high prices for the slackened interest in meat, which saw cattle prices moving down generally by $1 to $2 a hundredweight.

Export buying in the early part of the week was negligible but when prices were lowered fair numbers were taken for the United States trade. However, carryovers were fairly heavy on the larger markets.

Hog prices suffered sharp setbacks from the new peaks established in eastern Canada last week. Toronto was $2 lower with grade A hogs at $32 and closing bids at $31, while Montreal receded from an opening of $34 to a close of $32 for grade A. At Winnipeg and Saskatchewan markets were steady. Winnipeg paid $32.50 for grade A hogs.

Shipments of cattle to the United States included 8,679 head for immediate slaughter and for feeding.

Smelters Again Reduces Zinc

MONTREAL, June 18.—(CP)—Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Limited, has announced a reduction of ½ cent a pound in zinc prices to 9¼ cents for prime western in carload lots.

This latest cut makes a total of 11 reductions since the current downtrend began and reduces zinc prices by eight cents from the post-war high of 17¼ cents a pound.

The general quotation for copper now is 17 cents a pound but there are still some primary producers in the United States quoting the old 23½ cents price in effect prior to the recent break in the market.

AMHERST, N.S. — (CP)—This town expects to have its new water system in operation by the end of June. A new artesian well has produced water at the rate of 170 gallons a minute, and with the other four will make 1,750,000 gallons available every 24 hours.

Frost and Drought Prompt Grain Buying

WINNIPEG, July 18.—(CP)—All grains generally showed a firm trend in active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. In all instances gains were scored.

Buying in oats and barley was prompted by continued dry weather and overnight frost throughout the prairie grain belt. Shippers were on the buying side while offerings came from elevator accounts.

Rye prices also moved upward under local buying influenced by the trend of the other grains. Flax trade was dull with the July contract unchanged.

In the only export business reported, 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were allocated to the United Kingdom under the long term agreement. Class two wheat prices increased one cent from yesterday at $2.01.

TOURING SCOTTISH ministers Rev. A. Downie Thomson (left) and Rev. Wm. Horsburg arrived in Edmonton recently and will take services in two city churches Sunday. Rev. Mr. Thomson will speak at First Presbyterian with Rev. Mr. Horburg at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Health Via Test Tube Is Held Largely Fallacy

SASKATOON, June 18.—(CP)—Health and probably human happiness as well depend on a vast number of factors over which medicine has no control, Dr. Charles Hill, secretary of the British Medical Association, said today.

In an address to a special convocation of the University of Saskatchewan, he said people have a tendency to regard health as something that can be produced by a doctor or the laboratory worker out of a test tube. But health is conditional on food, proper clothes, the right kind of work, the right emotional attitude to society, absence of mental strain and fear, and education.

BALANCED SATISFACTION

A partial answer to the quest for health and happiness, he said, is to be found in the balanced satisfaction of human instincts—to satisfy hunger, to mate, to defend oneself, to fight and to compete. Civilization frequently neglects these instinctive urges.

Along with three other prominent medical men, Dr. Hill received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the university. Also honored were Dr. J. F. C. Anderson, Saskatoon, president of Canadian Medical Association; Dr. Wm. Magner, Toronto, past president, and Dr. J. A. MacFarlane, dean of the faculty of medicine at the University of Toronto.

Charges 'Fantastic' Says Accused Officer

TORONTO, June 18.—(CP)—One of Toronto's most popular city police detectives yesterday branded as "fantastic", charges levelled at him in a closed hearing.

Detective Sergeant Arthur Keay, 46, was just as secretive about the charges as the Toronto police commission and its chairman, Mayor Hiram McCallum. Even the names of the 25 witnesses subpoenaed for the hearing, were kept from the press.

Keay, top police athlete, was suspended last Tuesday. The only indication of the nature of the charges came from Mayor McCallum who said they were "serious."

Keay said "it is the most fantastic thing I've ever heard, and when this investigation is over it will bear me out."

After 10 witnesses had been called today the inquiry was adjourned to next Friday. No official report will be made until all the evidence has been heard.

WILL NOT RESIGN

Circumstances of the death of a narcotic addict were reported to have been reviewed at the hearing. The detective's connection with the death was not revealed except that he was called to the house following the death.

T. B. Hocking, counsel for Keay, said Keay had no intention of resigning from the force because all the charges could be cleared up.

Keay was rated an ace investigator and one of the most competent men on the force. He was active in the prosecution of drug addicts and runners.

MLA's will consider proposed legislation covering the export of natural gas from the province.

Oliver Patient Dies on Track

The body of a patient at the Oliver Mental Hospital was found yesterday on the railways tracks which run through the hospital grounds.

Forty-nine-year-old Karel Valousek is believed to have met death while attempting to board a moving train about 3 p.m. Thursday afternoon.

The body was found an hour later by CPR linemen riding through the hospital ground on a track motor. It was taken to the Oliver hospital.

DIED ALMOST INSTANTLY

Dr. M. M. Cantor, provincial chief coroner, said today Valousek had either been struck by a train or had been attempting to run away from the institution when he met his death. He died almost instantly.

Hospital Superintendent Dr. A. D. MacPherson said Valousek was reliable and had been given the freedom of the grounds. An Oliver patient since 1936, Valousek had lived in Westlock and had no family or relative.

An inquest into Valousek's death will be held early next week.

Farm Experts Will Meet In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 18.—(CP)—The men who work to lighten the burden of Canadian farmers meet here next week.

They are technical agriculturists, members of the Agricultural Institute of Canada which meets in annual convention, a four-day session opening Monday.

Organized 29 years ago, the institute has 2,500 members engaged in widely diversified fields of work.

It is their job to develop improved strains of crops, and livestock breeding practices; research for pest control, and search for modern methods to lighten the farmer's work.

There will be discussions on ways to develop a more effective agricultural extension program in the Dominion; primary producers' incomes, and on irrigation problems. Reports will be presented on economics and farm management research, and the marketing outlook for livestock.

AGRICULTURE DEAN

R. D. Sinclair of Edmonton will make his presidential address Monday. He is dean of agriculture, University of Alberta.

A guest speaker will be Francis R. Scott, vice-president of the National Farmers' Union of England and Wales.

He will discuss the position of farmers in the international field and review the work of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

There will be agricultural engineers to discuss spraying and dusting equipment used in pest control, and soil experts to talk on the soils of northwestern Canada, Ontario and Alberta. Speakers will include members of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Some of the founders of the institute will meet. Attending will be Dr. L. S. Klin, president emeritus of the University of British Columbia and Prof. Frank Buck, co-founders of the original group; C. A. Hayden of Vernon, B.C.; secretary of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, and E. D. Barrow, first president of the B.C. Federation, the first federation of farmers organized in Canada.

Lakehead Work Situation Said Improving

FORT WILLIAM, June 18.—(CP)—Although employment at the lakehead has been slow in picking up, there "is nothing to be alarmed at," Fred J. White, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, said today in an interview.

Mr. White was in Fort William to discuss employment conditions with 12 members of the commission's employment committee, which concluded a two-day meeting today.

Basically the employment conditions from the lakehead to British Columbia are "quite buoyant." The situation in Alberta is "satisfactory" because oil and hydro developments have created new jobs.
